WE ARE KICKAPOO

'79 LEGEND

Kickapoo High School
3710 S. Patton
Springfield, Mo. 65807

We Are Kickapoo...

1. School spirit at Kickapoo is so strong it seems spirit from the past is roaming the halls with us.

2. Concentration leads to ability as the football players run through the calisthenics and agility skills.

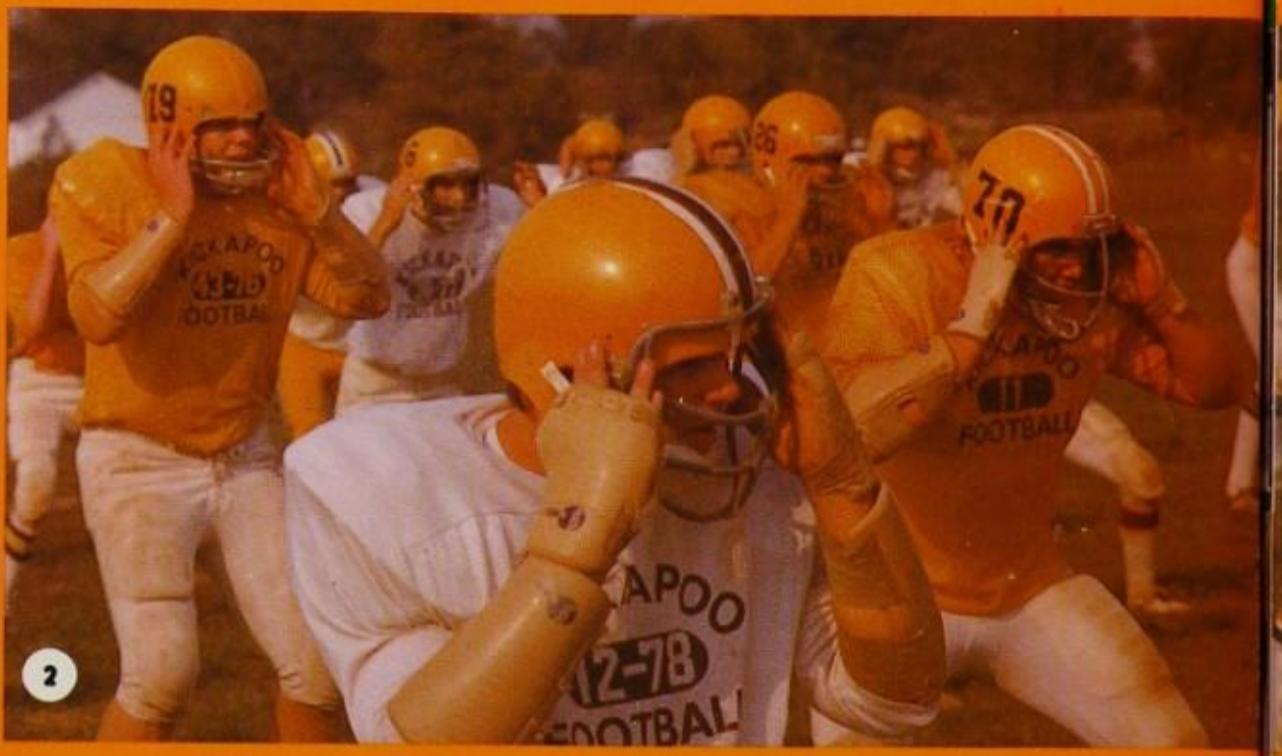

3. Although Andrea Brown is physically in Algebra II, mentally she is with Coach Jim Pearson in his gym class.

4. Is Kyle Keesling resting to listen to instructions or gaze at the girls in his new co-ed gym class?

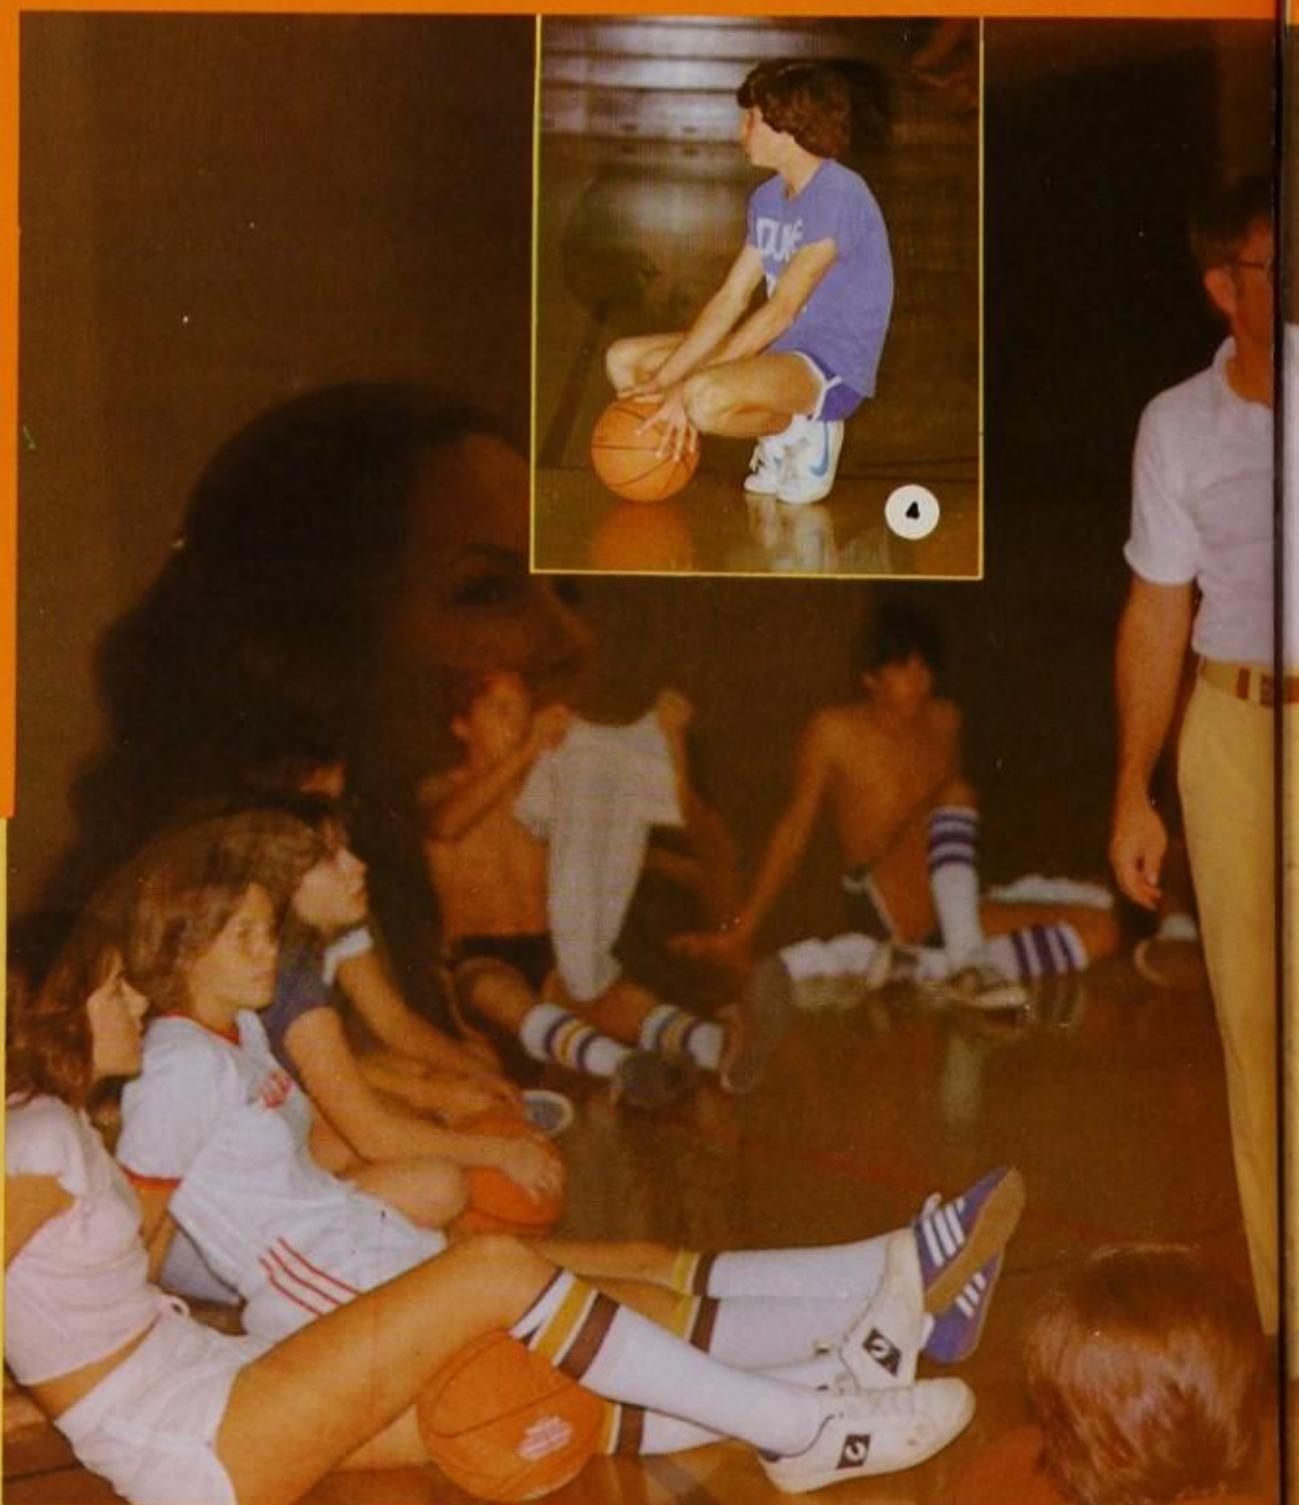

5. Social Commissioner Chris Walter works on ceremonial decorations as Bryan Renfrow quietly observes.

6. As football player Brad Tanzer approaches his locker he finds a sign pinned there by a cheerleader.

7. Sherry Rozell obviously finds something awful, as her sister Libby is amused. Can you guess who it is?

In Spirit

Houchy, I'm Kevin Torgerson

No one could say Kickapoo didn't have "the spirit." From the mumbling halls of KHS to the screaming stands of JFK stadium we out yelled any high school team in Springfield.

Freshmen; as did every class eagerly jumped into participate in spirit days, elections, dances, and clubs and activities. Many seniors got involved as they gathered to plan various projects and prom arrangements at senior class meetings.

New ideas were put into action through student council. Student council has a successful year, and accomplished much with the help of concerned officers and a well chosen cabinet. Ghost-a-grams, Hownight, and spirit days were just some of the things planned by Cabinet.

It was obvious that Kickapoo students knew the true meaning of spirit, and showed it in everything they did.

We Are Kickapoo...

1. Sandra Wayt, Scott Loveland, Suzanne Foushee, and Hal McClelland attempt the sack race on How Night.
2. Andrea Brown's enthusiastic face shows her excitement about How Night.
3. Winning or losing doesn't affect the Chief's spiritual outlook. They continue a traditional prayer circle.
4. Don Gourley, Brad Tanzer, and Steve Sheridan are busy in Physics calculating and comparing answers.
5. Susan Braughton, Karen Cameron, Genea Routh, and Marilyn Drewry are getting up for a volleyball game.
6. Practice, practice, that's what makes the Bonnies good. Waiting for practice to begin are Bitsy Maddox, Kris Hurst, and the rest of the Bonnies.
7. Jill Copeland is so happy since she bought a spirit towel from Patty Fleetwood, she feels all need one.

In Spirit and your not →

"This year will be better than the last", was a familiar quote heard by Principal Mr. C. R. Wilkerson, and it was.

As usual, the boys sports packed them in to their sporting events, but this year's girls sports also had many loyal supporters. Girls teams drew very enthusiastic fans onto the track, gym, and courts.

For some students, the way to show spirit is through participation in class. Gym classes took on a new light as onlooking members of the opposite sex have extra incentive to perform better in the new co-ed classes.

Of course Cheerleaders play a large part in promoting spirit in the school. Besides cheering at games they spend many hours after school painting signs to promote spirit.

If by chance you didn't have the spirit, all you had to do was find a Varsity cheerleader, buy a spirit towel, and fake it.

We Are Kickapoo...

1. Each player has a style all his own, individual as his name, in readying himself for the game. Though mentally psyching oneself is a solitary effort, unity of the team is there. David Duncan leaves the lockers ready.

2. Sean Allison uses the "force" to introduce the galaxy of groups who keep things in orbit at Kickapoo to the freshmen, and their "champion," Rob Daniel. A "Stars Wars" theme lets the Bonnies and Football Team take a bow.

3. Everything from the band to the football team promises enthusiasm and excitement unique to the first assembly of the year. Spirit flows into each student, as each student flows into the stadium for the How Day assembly.

4. Finally becoming juniors means the promise of class rings. After waiting for two years, class rings give juniors a feeling of achievement and belonging to Kickapoo. Joe Brown seems to find that "certain" ring.

5. "Come on boys don't kill each other!"

say Patty Fleetwood and Dina Love

while watching two football players pound each other with stuffed socks at a pep rally. Shelly Pearce just can't watch anymore.

6. "May I have your attention please for the afternoon announcements?" asks

Brad Southwick, National Forensic

League member. Telling all the events and excitement at Kickapoo gives Brad credit for his Public Speaking Class.

7. Echoes of a traditional standing ovation honor the 1977 Chief Ceremonial

Queen, Jeannette King as she returns along with her escort David Duncan to crown the 1978 Ceremonial Queen

Tamra Sanders. "With a touch of Autumn Charm."

In Tradition I hope I

Tradition cascaded over Kickapoo from week one when over 700 people showed up for the eighth annual How Night. Also in that first week over 2,000 loyal fans watched the Kickapoo Chiefs extend their eight year history of never losing their first game. Tradition echoed in the standing ovation given 1977's Chief Ceremonial Queen, Jeanette King when she returned to present the new queen, Tamrha Sanders with the crown.

Blanketing us in tradition, the Bonnie Buchanans and Golden Arrow Marching Band turned in excellent performances throughout the football and parade seasons.

Dances were a special tradition which dotted the school calendar along with other special events such as Chili Suppers and student-faculty games.

Traditions were rich at Kickapoo, and Kickapoo was rich in tradition.

We Are Kickapoo...

1. Students find their buses or parents and try to get out before the traffic backs up.
2. Julie Estes and Michelle Burr have a way to beat the congestion after school by walking home.
3. At every home-game the band gives the players support and entertains the audience.
4. Organizing events and working on signs for dances and other projects are cabinet duties.
5. Orientation of Freshmen means getting a pep talk, finding their schedules, and familiarizing themselves with the school.
6. Delivering one of his inspirational thoughts about jogging, Mr. Wilkerson has Tammy Ferguson and Eddie Israel listening closely to him.
7. Kraig Day, Warren Collins, and Torrey Morrison find a book easily for a class or just to read.

In Tradition have you in Uniting together as the Kickapoo Indians did to overcome problems associated with life on the plain, so did Kickapoo High School remain strong in tradition.

When Kickapoo first opened in 1971, the students and faculty had to make the best of a split schedule due to the building not being completed until October 25, but we survived this dismal start and united to become the newest and best school in Springfield.

We united again as the only high school to send relief money to Guatemala in 1975 for the earthquake victims.

Collecting for the Pupils' Consolidated Fund Drive is a long standing tradition between home-rooms. $2,208.54 was raised this year.

Through loyalty, Kickapoo achieved tradition by counting on the student body for support and enthusiasm during events throughout the school year.

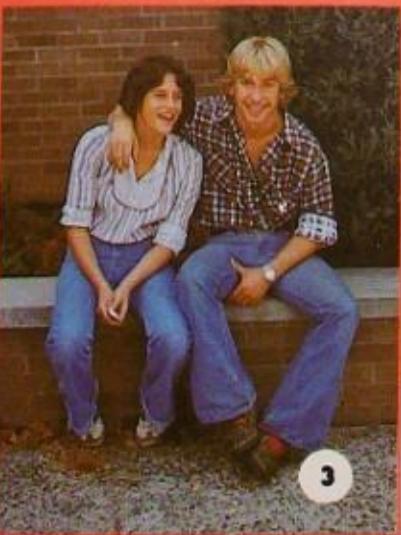

For Kickapoo students, good times were numerous during the 1978-79 school year. Whether we were munching pizza with our friends or just walking around the halls before school, whenever we got together with our friends were considered good times.

Football games and McDonalds were usually at the top of the agenda for Friday nights, while parties, movies, and just cruisin' around occupied our Saturday nights.

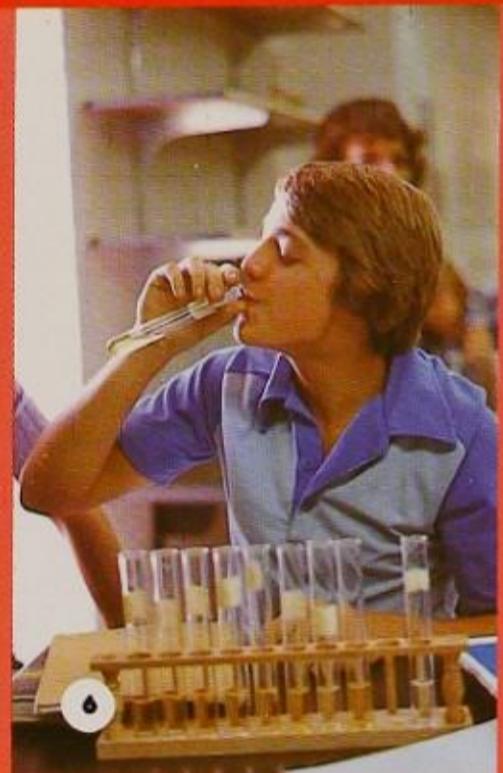

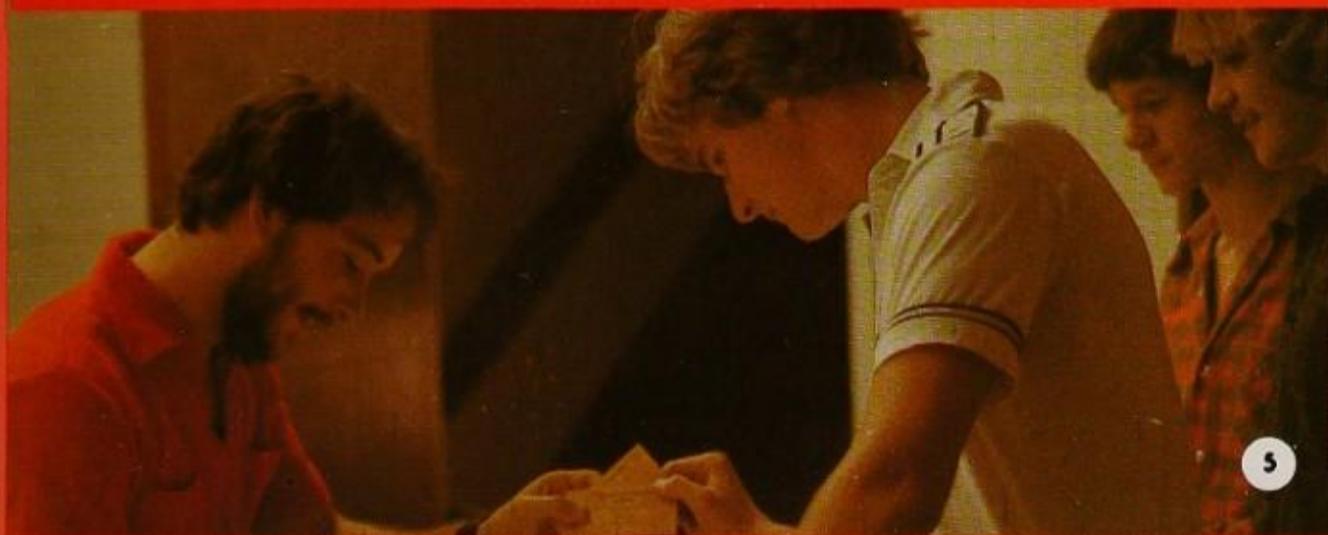

Good times around school were evident with large crowds gathering in the student center after school to talk about the activities of the day and to make plans for the evening.

Skateboarding and frisbee throwing added to the recreation of the students at Kickapoo, while others chose to sit in the courtyard and talk with friends.

In Good Times one of

1. At an Anchor Club meeting at Shotgun Sam's, sophomore Carolyn Richerson contemplates taking that last bite that could put her over the limit.
2. Junior Lesa Lairmore gives a big smile as the waiter at Swensen's brings her a little ice cream.
3. Jeff Dial and Julie Ashurst gather in the student center to discuss their fortunes and misfortunes of the day.
4. Members of the freshman class were found taking advantage of the courtyard to get a breath of fresh air after finishing lunch.
5. Brad Southwick, student body president sells two tickets to Rick Ellingsworth for the Chief Ceremonial, in which we set record sales.
6. During biology class, Steve Richerson tests his hypothesis by downing his concoction to see if he really will turn into Mr. Hyde.
7. Mark Freeman hands Carolyn Hendrick her order of donuts.

We Are Kickapoo...

1. Dan Wehner decides to forget about waiting in line at McDonald's.
2. To promote team spirit, volleyballers Dina Hein and Karen Cameron decorate Coach Schuble's car.
3. Senior Renee Graves and junior Debbie Anderson gather in the student center for some extra study.
4. In basketball action during gym class, Mickie Wolfinbarger and Dina Hein team up on Marilyn Drewery to try and stop her from sinking two.
5. People head to their next class while some stop to chatter with their friends.
6. Freshmen found lunches to be more exciting than in junior high.
7. With the wheelchair handy, Mrs. Middleton and Mr. Wilkerson get in their daily jogging with hope that they won't have to be wheeled away.
8. Cabinet members David Treat, Tammy Tracy and Peter Daniel make last minute preparations for the 1978-79 Chief Ceremonial.

In Good Times my classes

Painting posters, going to dances, and attending football and basketball games were always exciting. But getting out of class always seemed to be the best time anyone could have. It's not that anybody had a real great time when they were out of class, but the thought of being out of class when everyone else was in class seemed like fun.

The five minutes in between classes were always fun, too, running around the halls chatting with friends and catching up on all the gossip of the day.

And then at last came everyone's favorite time. When the last bell sounded at 3:25, herds of people could be seen making a mad dash for their cars to make sure they would beat the crowd to Kickapoo.

1. Kellie Burnum flashes a smile of realization that the announcement of her name for Tri-County Junior Miss. Far from ending, this pageant is the ticket to the state pageant and just maybe, the national contest.

2. Number 78, Rick Greenwood, and number 3, Jim Henley lead the way tearing through the "break-thru" that the cheerleaders prepared to make their big entry, and to get psyched up for the game ahead.

3. With help, Varsity cheerleaders Caroline Hendrick, Sherry Rozell, Paula Fleak, and Tamra Sanders are doing their best to keep the "break-thru" sign up against the wind, for the football team to run through.

4. On the day of a football game, there are Kickapoo T-shirts in every crowd, plus all the football, Bonnie, and Band shirts to be seen.

5. "Stepping high is very important to the Bonnies as they form a number one on the football field at halftime," says Majorette Robin Greer.

6. The windows of our greenhouse reflect our surrounding community as Julie Marlin, Lori Greer and Terry Bond cultivate greenery.

7. Kickapoo pride is expressed in different ways. Beth Alexander and Duane Luckie bear the brown and gold in their shirt, jacket, and gym bag.

In Pride next year so I

Pride was a big part of the Kickapoo Indians' life as it is also a big part of our own school. We're proud to be the newest school in town and proud to be the only one with air conditioning for those long hot days.

The athletic department has also been a subject of pride with Kickapoo, for spending many hours practicing to do the best they possibly can. The Music Department goes all out to help promote school spirit at the games, like the band and the drum corps. They also prompt entertainment, such as the choir and orchestra.

For the third year in a row, Kickapoo was the honored school of another Springfield Junior Miss, Kellie Burnum. Last year we were proud to have Kim Crosby at our school, who went on to win America's Junior Miss after being chosen in Springfield.

We all knew that Kickapoo had a lot to be proud of, and we showed it through our actions.

We Are Kickapoo...

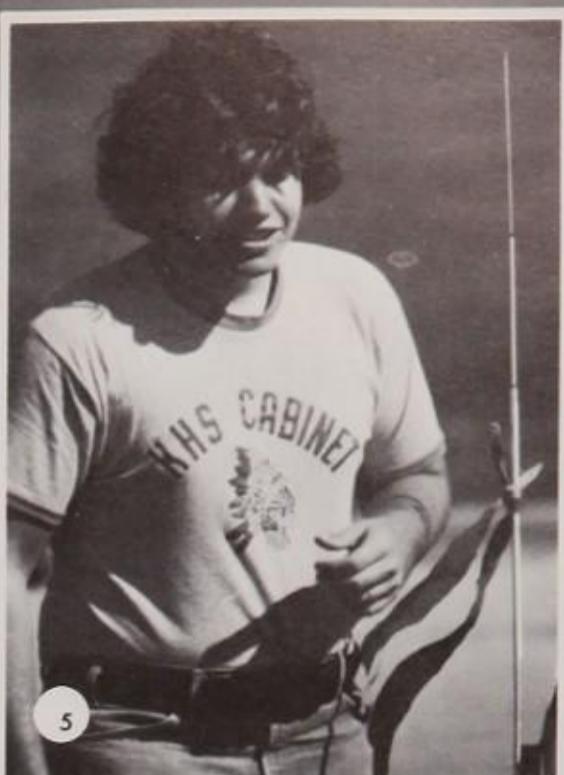

At Kickapoo High School, there are a lot of active people and a lot of activities that the students can be proud of.

It was groups of people such as the Golden Arrow Marching Band, the Bonnies, speech and debate teams and cheerleaders that showed the pride we had at Kickapoo. Many times people didn't realize the hard work these people put in, donating their free time to help make the name Kickapoo meaningful.

Yet there is another group of people that deserve recognition in the building of pride at KHS. The people who stood behind the activities of Kickapoo such as the band, athletic department and Bonnies, and cheered them on, helping these groups to do their best. The people who were behind Kickapoo no matter what we were involved in was the entire student body that built loyalty and pride in Kickapoo.

In Pride can bug you, catch you in the flash back signed the original Tony

1. Proud of the band that is playing the National Anthem, and also proud of what the song stands for. Kickapoo students and parents applaud. 2. At Kickapoo pride begins with one's roots; the flag represents Kickapoo students past, present and future. 3. Mr. Horner Askins introduces Kickapoo's first cross-country team during the Ceremonial assembly. The team was coached by Mr. Richard Clark. 4. Tony Still, Tamra Sanders, and Tammy Ferguson not only show spirit in their own activities, but also reflect pride watching the volleyball team. 5. Cabinet member Bryan Renfrow shows pride in his school colors by tying brown and gold streamers to his car before he leaves the school. 6. Every year before school starts, all five drum corps, of which Kickapoo was a host of this year. The cake was part of a bigger cake that Mrs. Marlene Atwell, mother of Karrie, made. 7. Craig Godsy enjoys a break in the day, out in the courtyard.

IN

"How night" started the year off by getting everyone involved. 850 students participated.

Standing room only at the homecoming game and record numbers at every game made the year a big success. Being a Bonnie or cheerleader meant extra time before or after school but helped to get more students involved.

All these things together made Kickapoo students have their best year yet.

During the Chief Ceremonial assembly Duane Eldridge and Keith Perkins pose as talking trees before attendants are escorted on stage.

Quality assemblies offer more for all

Along with main school events are assemblies which got us out of class for an hour or so to watch Chief Ceremonial or Sweetheart attendants; to hear a band; to watch talent through the musical "The King And I", several plays, and the talent show.

In February, America's Junior Miss, Kim Crosby presented Senator Jack Danforth, and spring brought a glimpse of the past in memories assembly. Assemblies were a chance to break the monotony and also gave students time to enjoy themselves.

Being a mischievous puppet, Pinocchio, portrayed by Sherry Rizzell, steals Gepetto's (Marco Perry) wig and reveals his bald head.

Usually remembered in Chief Ceremonial assembly is the introduction of royalty and footballers, but laughing smiles are apparent here.

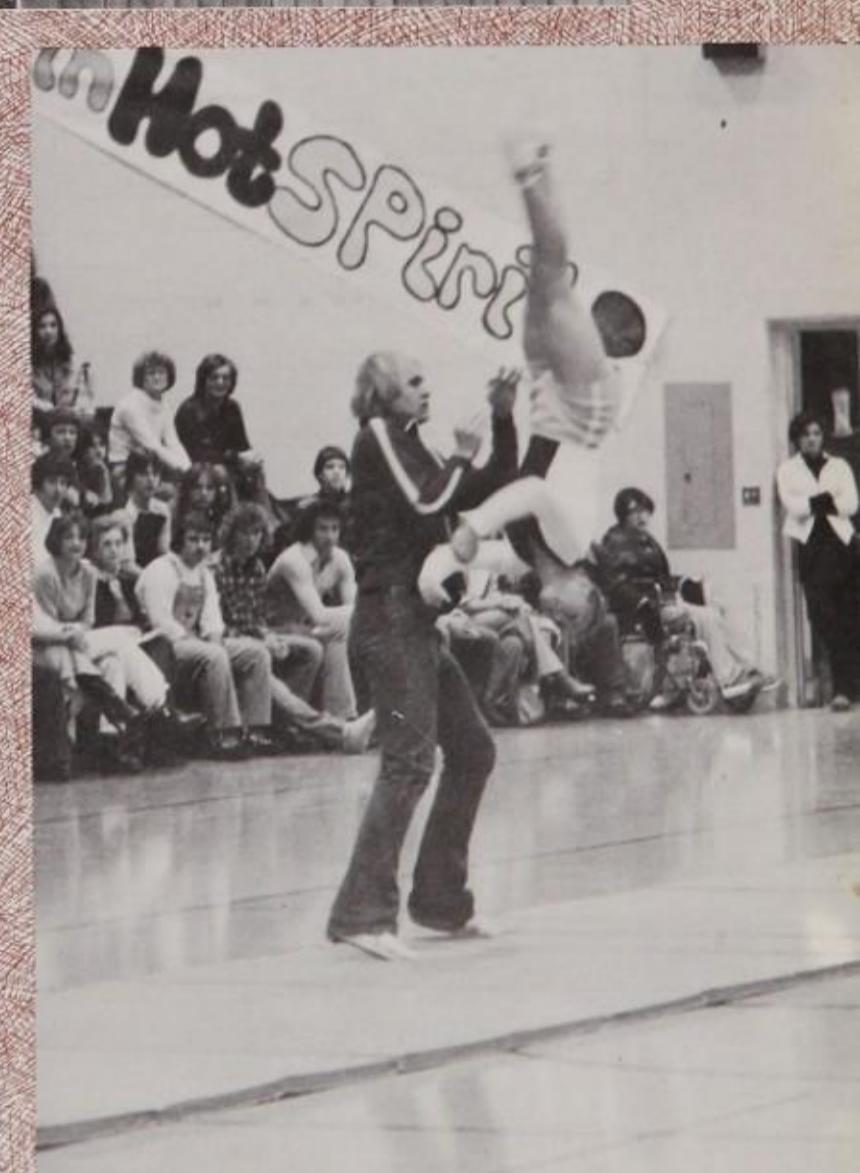

Kim Crosby, 1978 graduate of Kickapoo High School, currently reigning America's Junior Miss, introduces Missouri Senator Jack Danforth during a special assembly for the students benefit.

Cupids Sean Allison, Kurt Atwell, and Kyle Roblin helped winter sport teams round up Sweetheart candidates Dina Hein, Kim McLaughlin, Chris Walter, Patty Fleetwood, and Sherry Rozell.

Andrea Brown (Elisa) and Jonathan Petefish (Angel George) rehearse for an assembly crowd to perfect their ballet segment before presenting it opening night in "The King and I".

Brian Martin lightly spots Gayle Anderson as she executes a full twisting back summi.

How Day How Night How Day How Night How

It's Hat Day, but that's nothing new to David Honeycutt, who wears his hat — and devilish grin — every day!

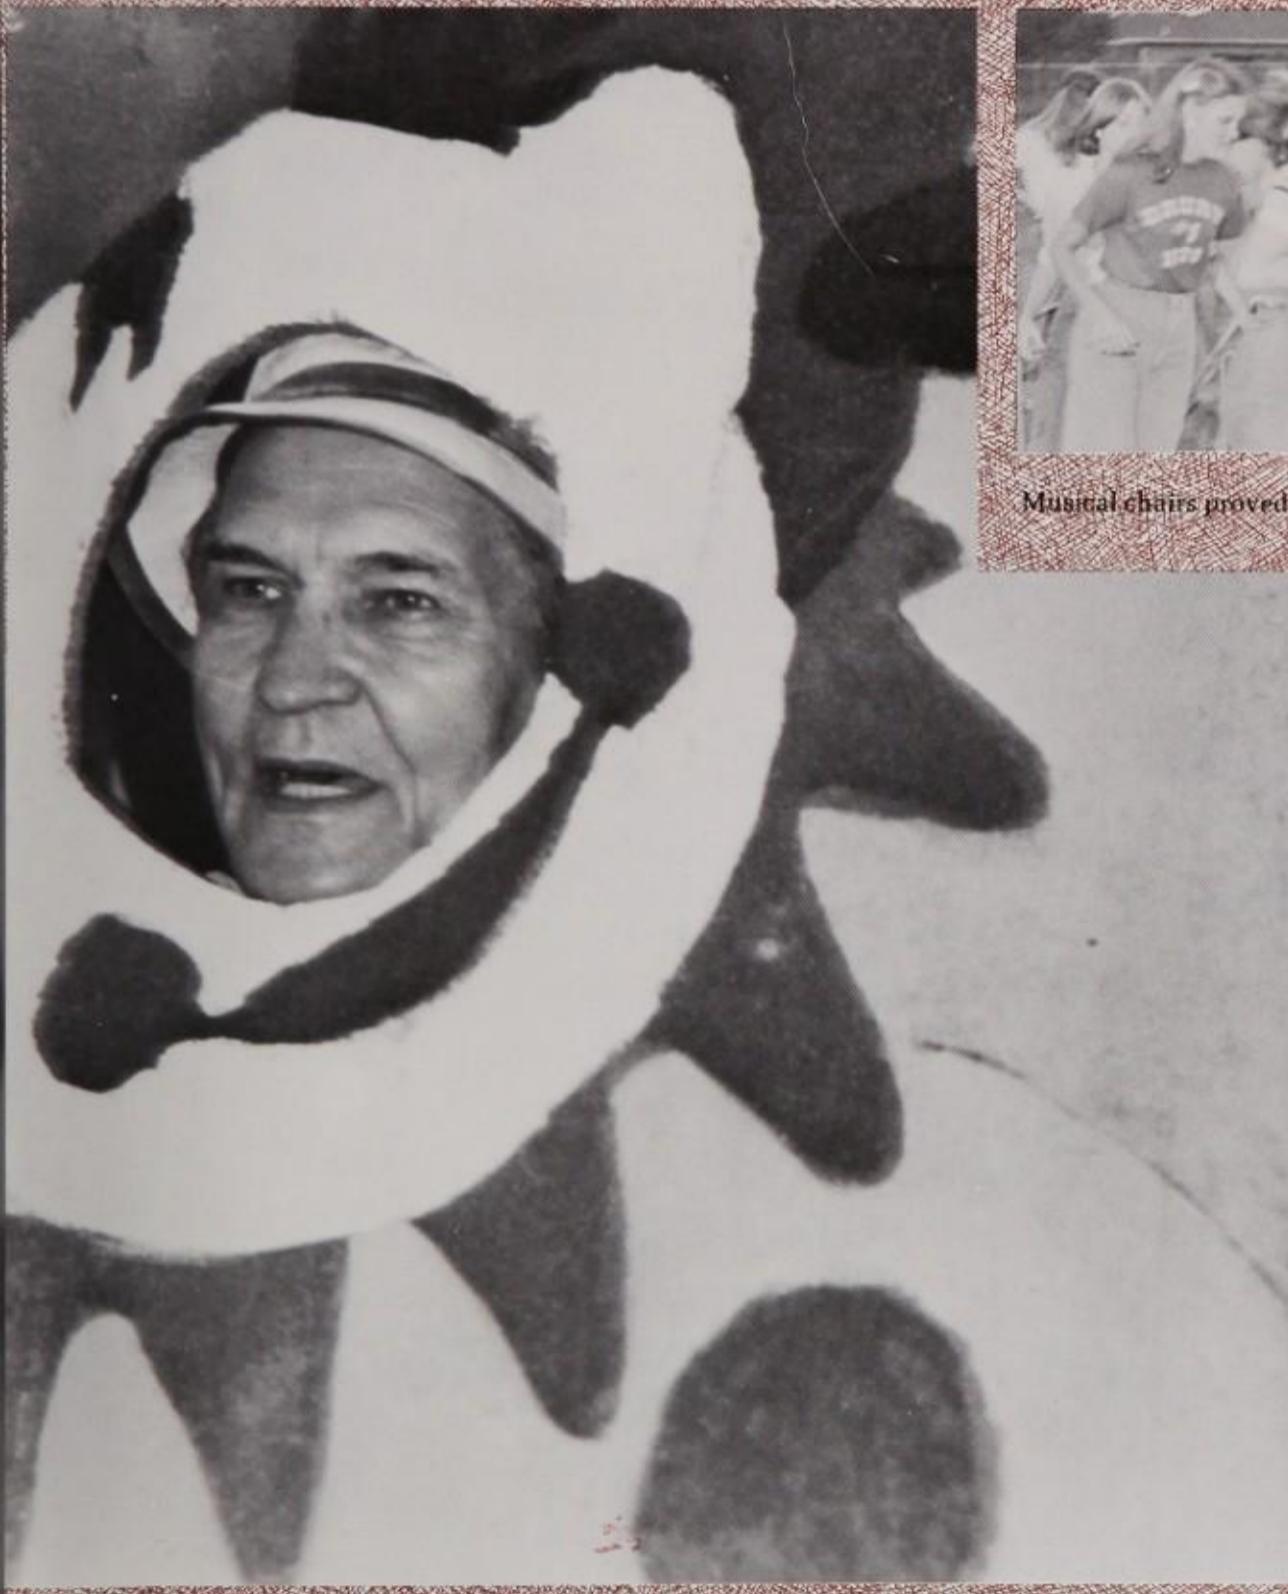

Robin Greer shows her spirit on Mickey Mouse Day by wearing an outfit borrowed from her good friend Minnie.

"Stop, or I'll shoot!" threatens junior Jill McAdoo, one of many bandits disrupting KHS on Cowboy and Indian Day, which encouraged spirit for basketball games.

Junior Libby Rozell and freshmen Robby Daniel and Chris Barnet dance to music provided by House of Sound and Pete Quill Enterprises. King

Tut races, which created a huge mess, Frisbee, and dancing were all new features to How Nite. All three events were extremely popular!

"Am I allowed to duck?" Mr. Charles Calame gasps as he watches a gooey cream pie headed right for his face. The pie-throwing contest was a great opportunity for those students with pent-up hostilities!

Musical chairs proved to be competitive as well as fun for these girls!

How day, spirit days spark enthusiasm

Each year at KHS, spirit was said to be "the best it has ever been" — and each year it WAS!

The enthusiasm on How Day was so great we knew we were off to a good start. We wore overalls, crazy socks, name tags, and gave a free yearbook to Jenny Falk for being the one-hundredth person to say "how" to this year's Howdy Man, Pat Murphy. The fun continued with How Nite, which included sack races, musical chairs, and dancing.

Our enthusiasm was obvious through the year. We popped balloons and read papers at games. We had Spirit Days such as Overall Day and Cowboy and Indian Day; KHS was the only high school to celebrate Mickey Mouse's fiftieth birthday!

The King and I

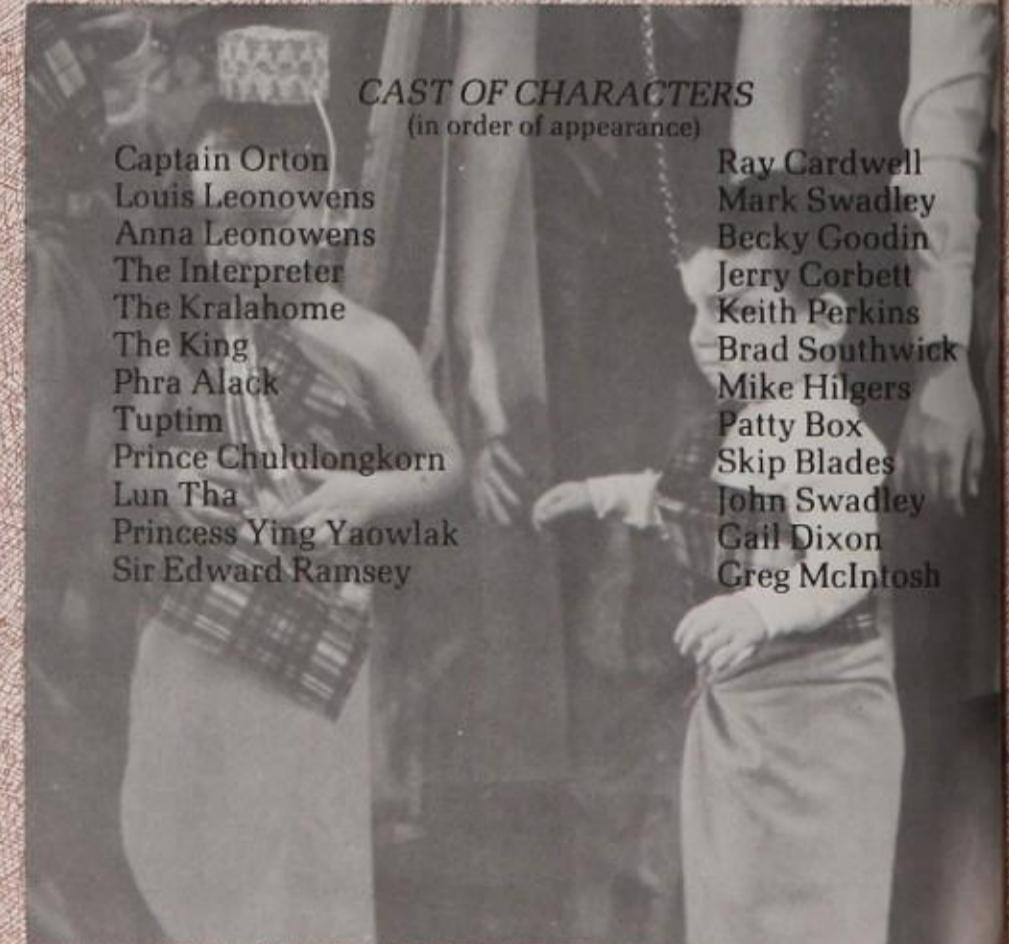

The cast of the "King and I" assembles on stage to take their bows at the end of another successful show. Included are six major leads, 20 elementary and junior high age students, and assorted other cast and crew, making it the biggest play ever put on at Kickapoo.

Sophomore Becky Goodin as Anna, in the scene of the school room, teaches the royal children how to sing their school song in English.

The King of Siam, portrayed by Brad Southwick, lifts his arms in praise to their sacred God, Buddha. A star was born, for Brad showed his great acting ability in his first dramatic role.

Devoted time makes musical a success.

"The King and I" was the task taken on by the RHS chorus and orchestra. Under the direction of Mrs. Carol Burgess, Mr. Ernest Pratt, and Mr. Tony Loudis, the musical came to life.

After several auditions, the cast was chosen. The King, played by Brad Southwick, Anna, played by Becky Goodin and numerous wives, children and servants.

Cast and orchestra worked hard during the day for long hours, late into the night.

Finally, opening night arrived. Despite nervousness, the students put on a good musical.

Entertainment grabs our money

As our piggy banks went dry we wondered where all of our money had gone. Weekend activities for the most part stole our dollars. Football and basketball games were crowd drawers, and then off to pizza or McDonalds afterwards. Packed into Fire and Ice discotheque on Sunday nights were people from every school. Way out east Kearney a discotheque opened with spectrum-lighted floors and a three dollar cover charge. The Lift. For those who didn't "dig" disco, other forms of entertainment were sought. Drive-in and walk-in movies were a popular place to take a date. Hammons Center had rock, jazz, spiritual, and many other types of concerts and shows. For many, eating was entertainment. We supported the livelihood of Springfield's eating establishments.

The world and the United States were in considerable turmoil during 1978. In the national spotlight were the Jim Jones People's Temple mass-murder-suicides. After serving 19 months of her bank robbing charge Patty Hearst was released. To the dismay of Taiwan, President Carter recognized Communist China as the one China. Billy Carter introduced another type of detente to the Lebanses ambassador and embarrassed the United States. Chicago and the rest of the mid-west was buried for two straight weeks of near blizzard snows.

Springfield's 150th Birthday

"A million hours of memories" was the slogan for the celebration of Springfield's Sesquicentennial. Springfield was settled 150 years ago this year. Included in the festivities was the dedication of a special symbol by Springfield's mayor, Paul Redfearn, and a senate bill introduced by Senator John Danforth. Center of the Sesquicentennial was the Bentley house on Drury campus. The Bentley house, an 18-room mansion built for a prominent banker in 1892, is now a museum that shows the history of Springfield in its rooms. Springfield Public School Public Information director, Dick Grosenbaugh, compiled and wrote a short history of Springfield. Mayor Redfearn stated, "I think we'll appreciate our future when we understand our past." It was announced that in September, Springfield Week will be held and a special gift will be unveiled.

KHS Court of Special People

Kickapoo was filled with many beautiful and talented people, and a few were voted special. The halls of KHS flourished with royalty. Among them were Tamtha Sanders, Chief Ceremonial Queen; Ham King, Danny Irwin; Kellie Burnum, Springfield's Junior Miss; and Sweetheart Queen, Dina Hein.

Checking Out the Sports Scene

Regaining titles was a popular format for the '78 sports scene. The Yankees won the World Series once again, and the Steelers stole the Super Bowl championship for the third time. In auto racing Janet Guthrie made another step for women by being the first woman to finish the Indy 500. Muhammad Ali won his title, World Boxing Council Heavyweight Champion, for the third time from Leon Spinks.

Kickapoo had a year of champions, too. The boys' basketball team set a school record by scoring 110 points in a Stockton tourney semi-final game. The boys' swim team qualified 8 people for state. The girls' basketball team also went to State, while the wrestling team received 4 area honors. Tim Jones was honored Wrestler of the Year, with Coach Sanders receiving Coach of the Year. Tim was also presented the Coca Cola and KY-3 athlete of the week awards. Kickapoo has one of the four-states area best gymnasts, Gayle Anderson. Gayle has hopes of the Olympics.

In Our Backyard . . . KHS News

At Kickapoo we celebrated the opening of the overpass over Campbell and the construction of a new parking lot during the 1978-79 school year. Student Council sponsored a blood drive in conjunction with the Red Cross in the spring, and arranged for Senator John Danforth to speak to the student body at a special sixth hour assembly. In November the COB and DECA departments organized Free Enterprise Week. Speakers from Springfield's business community came and spoke to groups of interested students. Films explaining the free enterprise system were shown to social studies classes. Choir and chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Carol Burgess, traveled many places statewide to perform. Junior achievement produced a televised talent show.

Annie Hall look and curls invade KHS.

With each year at KHS, there accompanies the students' new crazes that make the year unique. Whether the current rages were in clothing, food, or music, Kickapoo could be counted on to participate enthusiastically.

This year, the trend in clothing was the "Annie Hall" look. It included ties, vests, straight leg pants, and tousled mops of curls on the heads of both guys and gals. The "Nutty 50's" look also became popular.

Disco dancing and jogging were fun fads done in spare time and were only two of the many rages that made this year at KHS memorable.

The group here, including Melinda Peters, Vicki Renner, and Beverly Williams show mixed emotion about Cowboy and Indian Day, sponsored by the Student Council. Hats, vests, cowboy boots and Indian head dress were just some of the ways we showed our spirit.

Councils have more activities this year

Student Council sponsored activities including How Night, "Grease" dance, Sock Day, Mickey Mouse Day, Cowboy and Indian Day, and its annual Pupil's Consolidated Fund Drive.

Junior and Sophomore class officers each sponsored a dance and the Freshmen held a Fling.

Safety Council members painted curbs between the tennis courts and the stadium. To make classrooms easier to find they put up new room number signs to make them more visible.

Helpful projects are what the Safety Council does with council members Dee Ann Renfrow, Kerry Scott, Leslie Mayes, and Brenda Hulen shown painting the curbs outside the school.

Student leaders were busy with activities

Cabinet officers were busy, busy, busy planning student activities.

Something new was a 6th hour study hall for all cabinet members. They felt this was really a good idea.

How Night and Chief Ceremonial had better attendance than last year. Other activities include Santa-Grams Ghost-Grams, carnations, Sweetheart Social and a Blood-Drive. On Feb. 12 Pete Daniel arranged for Senator Jack Danforth to come speak to the Kickapoo Student body.

Class officers helped with elections at lunch and were also in charge of the Christmas windows.

Nine girls who exuded a glint of personality that answered to the word "special" became the 1978-79 Chief Ceremonial Royalty. The Chief Ceremonial Assembly, the rivalry of the football game, the excitement of halftime, and finally, the dance all added "A Touch of Autumn Charm" during the week that ended Friday, October 20, 1978. On that night the Chiefs trailed 7-0 at halftime. Royalty rode to the fifty yard line in red TR3's where they took their place on the field with their escorts as the band played "Just the Way You Are". Suspense turned to exhilaration as the announcement came: "The 1978 Chief Ceremonial Queen is Tamra Sanders!"

A stage full of Royalty, including last year's Ceremonial Queen Jeannette King, watch the trees, Keith Perkins and Duane Eldridge as they shed their leaves for the fall season.

Careful plans make ceremonial a success.

More than just a football game, preparations for the Chief Ceremonial began weeks in advance.

Starting things off was the traditional Chief Ceremonial assembly, held in order to present the newly chosen attendants, as well as the football team, wrestling team and cross country team. In keeping with the theme "A Touch of Autumn Charm" each was introduced by the "trees" Keith Perkins and Duane Eldridge.

It was chilly the night of the game, but the stands were filled and then some. The football Chiefs were defeated by Lebanon, 7 to 0 in a tough game.

After the game, the dance was held in the KHS cafeteria. Music was provided by the band "Second Sight," who played a variety of tunes.

Parades, homecomings, shows for the Bonnies

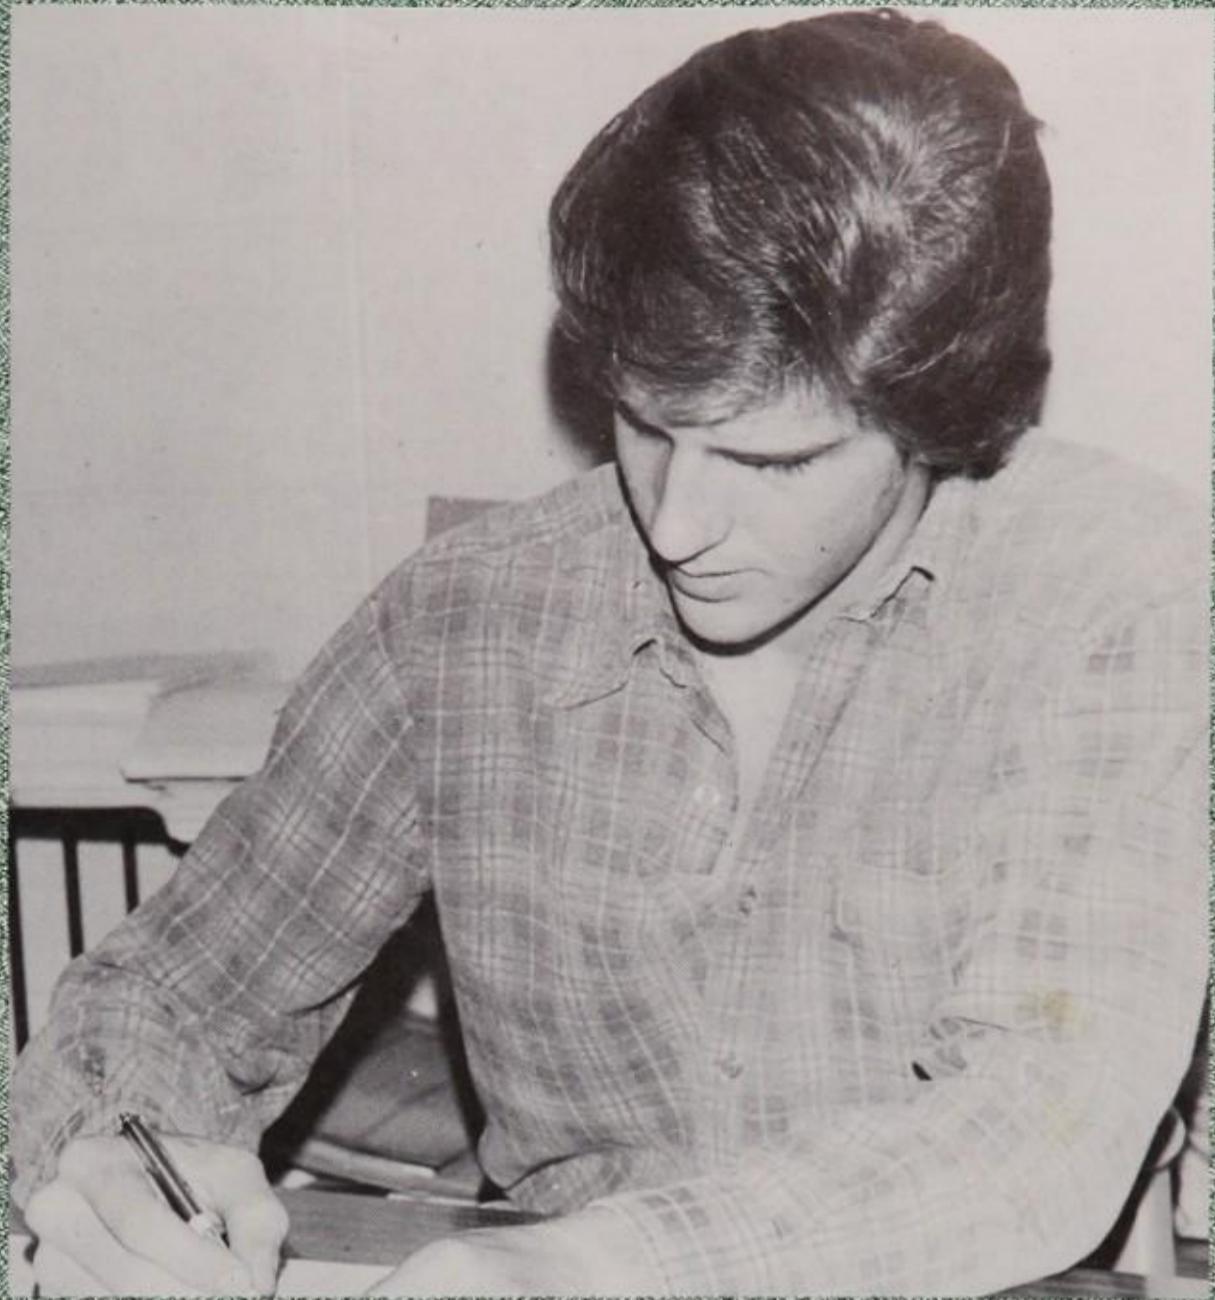

To highlight All Corps which was held here on Aug. 10, the Bonnies presented a cake decorated with clay dolls that represented each of the five Springfield high school drum corps.

Bonnies had performed for the Veteran's Day Parade, the M.D. Car Show, the SMSU and Evangel Homecomings, and the local Christmas Parade.

Mrs. Cynthia Miller, sponsor, and the Bonnies were involved in such money making projects as a bazaar, candy sales, and a leg booth at the PTSA dance. Bonnies had hoped to raise enough money for a trip to Florida in the spring.

Freshmen are happy just to be in high school, sophomores were glad that they were no longer the youngest, juniors were finally upper classmen and were thinking just one more year, and seniors were saying, "I don't believe this is our last year." For the seniors who graduated at the end of first semester, the year was especially short.

With over 1400 students at Kickapoo this year the halls were much more crowded than in the years before.

Each person was busy so the year went by very quickly for everyone.

Think of it — Freshman to Senior in just four very short years.

Just Beginning

Our freshman class is quite unique — we're together, and we're spirited.

Our class officers were all girls and the class was quite proud of them. Freshman Ann White said, "It's good to have a girl in each office. This proves that a girl can handle the responsibility of being an officer for our class."

John Denver was a big success; some of us stayed at The Hammond Center all night to get tickets. That's one memory that will stick in our minds long after graduation.

One of the main changes for us was coming to a new school, and so far we have adjusted to this well. We have met several new people and have done a lot of growing up.

Shelly Freeman, freshman, kept busy with "The King and I," held here and sang in her church choir as well as the Kickapoo Concert choir and Swing choir.

She also has been playing the oboe for four and a half years and has been taking vocal lessons for one-half hours a week.

"My parents encourage me in everything I do and are very supporting," commented Shelly.

She is also in the Springfield Youth Symphony and sometimes plays for church. Besides the piano, she plays the flute and trumpet. She is also involved in band and Spanish Club. She said she would like to travel and perform and give piano concerts, but would be happy as a music teacher.

Full of Spirit

We were off to a good start with spirit and enthusiasm.

Sophomore President Brad Tuck called a class meeting early in the year to get organized and start our school spirit campaign.

At this meeting suggestions were made and later approved by the staff board. Including vice-president Traci Ferrell's idea on challenging other classes to attend the 50's dance, December 8. Other ideas were a sophomore pep club, powder puff football game, and a New Year's Eve party.

Sophomore class secretary, Judy Grant, feels the involvement is great. She added, "It started with a few people and now it's catching."

A one man band!

How many people have played 12 instruments by the time they are a sophomore in high school?

Ray Cardwell has! He started his music career by singing on his father's radio show in Aurora, Missouri with his father's group, "Ozark Country Boys." Since then he has learned to play the mandolin, guitar, banjo, cow-horn, bass fiddle, drums, trombone, electric bass, lead guitar and "Barry Sax". Ray's favorite music is good old fashion "hoe-down".

Dreams of dancing

She has dreams of being a professional ballerina.

Traci Ferrell, a member of the Springfield Civic Ballet and ballerina of ten years, is mainly interested in classical dance with a professional ballet company, "Maybe 'San Francisco Ballet' or 'Ballet West' in Utah."

Besides her graceful abilities she makes straight A's and is vice-president of her class.

Spirit, Friends

Spirit is the word used most often when talking about the junior class. This year it was especially true.

We were involved in the all school production of "The King and I" and the drama department's production of "The Homecoming". We took part in athletic events and many other activities. With our participation and involvement we contributed a lot to building school spirit.

Good leadership from Paula Penny, Lynne Brent, and Dina Love added a lot of closeness and enthusiasm to our class. One of the activities sponsored by the junior class was a Barn Dance that was held exclusively for juniors and it was enjoyed by all who attended.

Fulfilled dreams began this past year for Andy, culminating in his solo flight of a Cessna 150.

Starting at the age of 13, he began saving his money for flying lessons and began these lessons last summer. For all of these lessons Andy has financially backed himself and is proud to say, "I did it myself".

Friend from afar

Yoshihiko Hada, better known as "Yoshi" moved to America from Japan in early August.

While living in Japan, Yoshi enjoyed such hobbies as reading, playing the guitar and studying the martial arts. He participates in wrestling here to keep his body in shape for the martial arts.

Yoshi has made many new friends since moving to America and thinks the people are very nice.

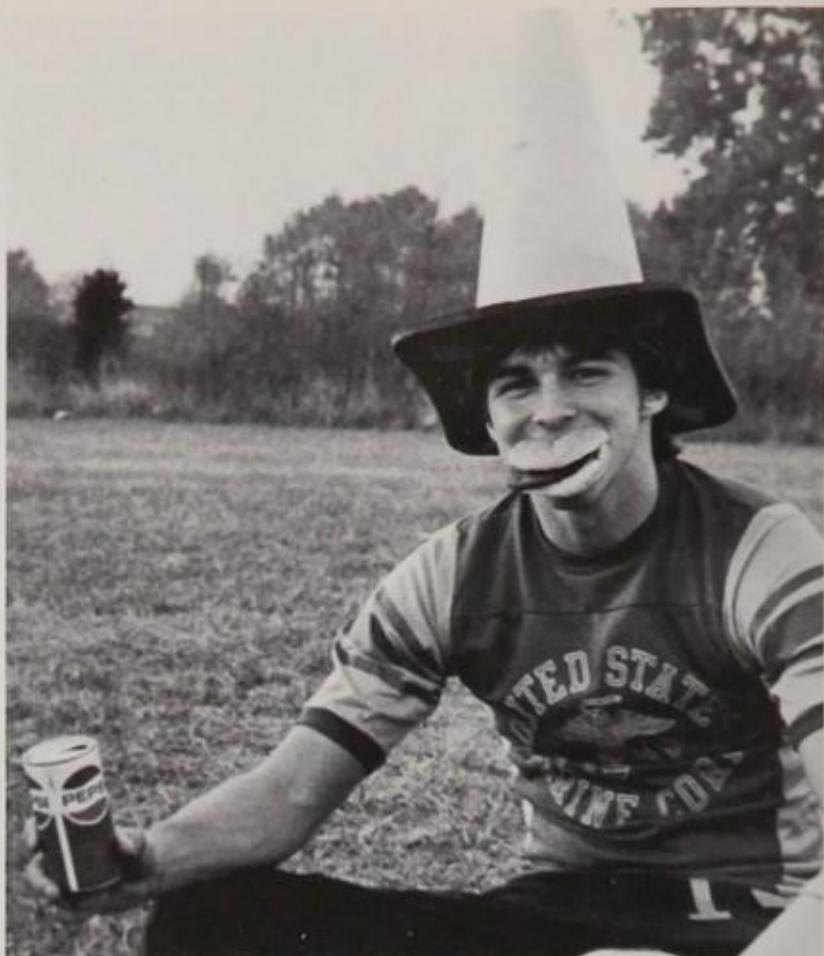

Finally Finished

Twelve years ago we were starting our first year in school, now we have graduated from our last year and have received our diplomas to reward us for our work.

We never thought that day of May 29, 1979 would come. Many seniors have definite plans, others are not sure what the future holds.

The Class of '79 had many fund raising projects including the senior movie "One on One", a candy sale, and a T-shirt sale all to raise money for the senior gift and prom.

We all have our own memories which we will cherish from our school years, but our senior year should hold special memories for all students . . . Who was your Sweetheart or your best friend? Especially the excitement of Prom and Graduation. Are you still able to remember who you celebrated prom with or perhaps what you did the night after Principal Curtis Wilkerson handed you your diploma?

Conehead, David Turner, comes to the pit for the last time to consume mass quantities of burgers and cola.

Hawaiian born Dina Hein, has participated in sports and student government, and has a variety of hobbies along with high hopes.

Dina is active in track, varsity basketball, volleyball team, and went to All-Conference her junior year. She also participated in Junior Olympic Volleyball '77-'78.

Dina's vice-president of Safety Council, and is home room president.

Her hobbies are art, volleyball, softball, collecting poems, and photography.

After high school, Dina would like to become either an oceanographer or a marine biologist, or perhaps even a dentist.

Don't forget Frosty

Darryl Blackshore, a black, better known as Frosty, moved to Springfield, from San Diego and stayed only six months. He has six brothers aging from four to eighteen. His father worked at the medical center as a counselor.

Kickapoo has only four blacks, but Darryl found friends easily without discrimination. To him, the classes and requirements seem harder here than in San Diego, but he still loved KHS.

He has been dancing since he was four years old, and his favorite is disco.

Most of the students who got to know Darryl will remember him by his slogan . . . "Don't Forget The Frosty".

Seniors Brad Tanzer and Lisa Samuel take time out between classes to discuss their plans for the evening.

Politics for future

Goals enable people to structure their lives — to prepare for the future and accomplish something purposeful. Karen Tucker, relates to these ideas as she fulfills her dream . . . politics.

Working toward her goals, Karen attended the Youth Leadership Conference with the Danforth Association on November 15, 1978; she was recognized in the Springfield newspaper for outstanding abilities in a story "Teen Profile." Karen is also involved in Junior Achievement, Cabinet position, and many other activities.

Karen plans to attend law school and also hopes to work for the Federal Government.

WARRIORS

Leisure time turned many Kickapoo students to the sports scene.

Not only were the participants able to get involved but also the spectators took part.

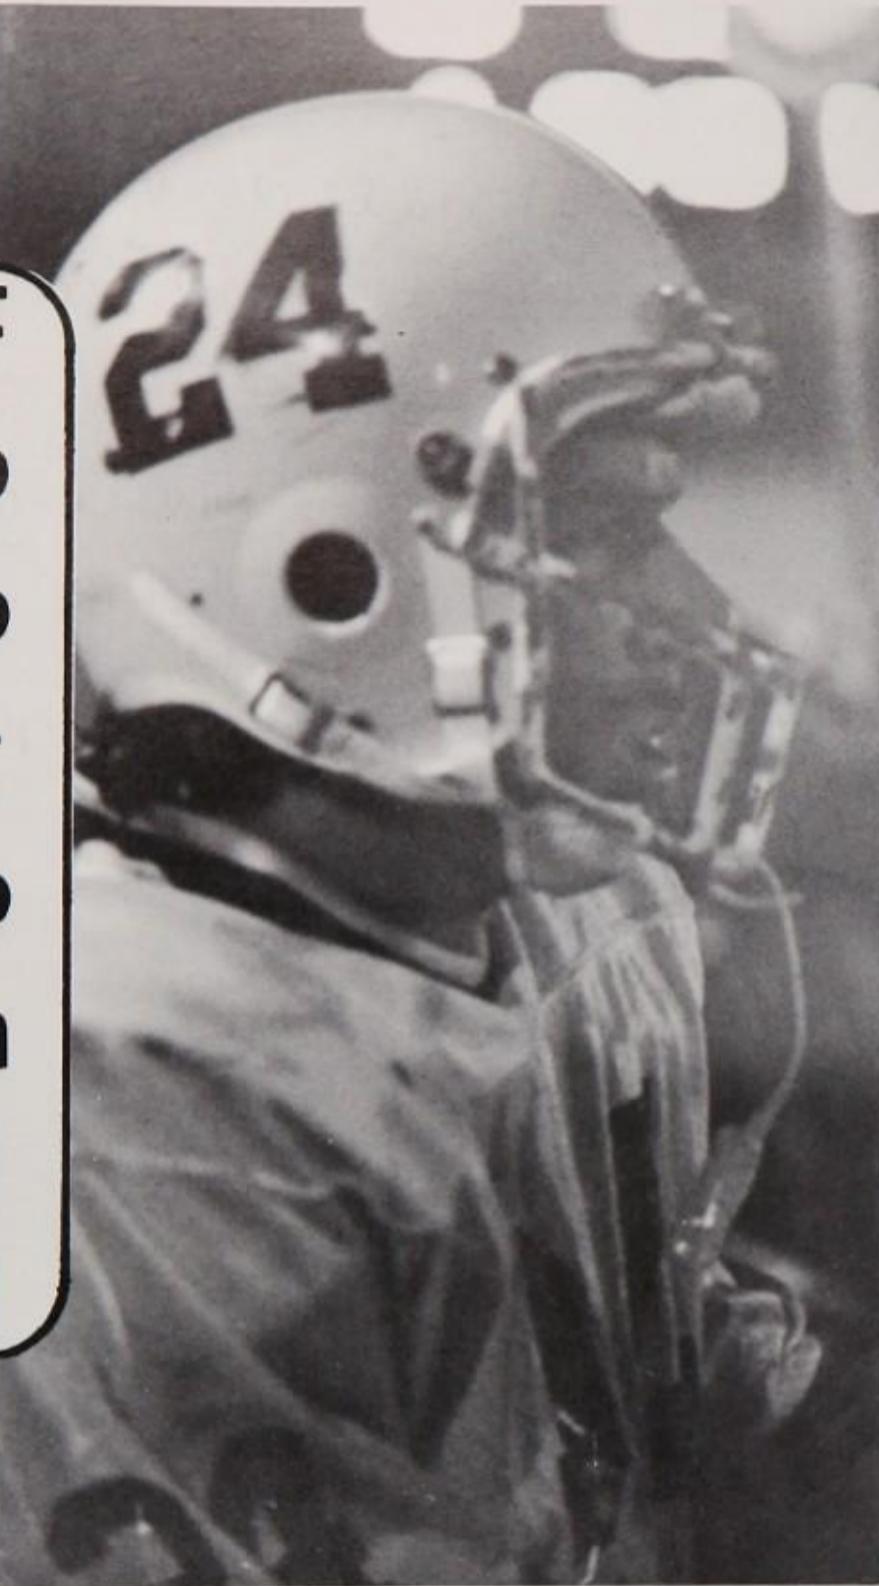

Viewers enjoyed the thrill of seeing the mighty Chiefs pull out a victory, and each learned to accept defeat with good sportsmanship.

Spectators also enjoyed entertainment provided by the Golden Arrow Marching Band as well as the Bonnies and Pom Pon girls.

Cheerleaders sparked spirit while leading a record number of people in chants and cheers. They also promoted spirit through the spirit stick and spirit towels.

"Year of the big play," is how some authorities have described the '78 football season. Senior David Duncan looks on in hopes of one here.

Record doesn't measure success of the season

Although the Varsity football Chiefs finished the season at (4-6) that doesn't mean that the season was unsuccessful. According to Coach Pearson there was talent on the team but not as much as the year before.

Varsity Chiefs had a total of 51 players, and 23 of them were seniors. Out of this big group, five were chosen to the all conference team. Receiving honors were, David Ferrell, William Tate, Rusty MacLachlan, Don Dishman, and Dannie Martin.

Coach Pearson stated that most of the boys did their best. "I am very proud of the boys who gave 100 per cent this past season."

With the defense set, Junior Tim Hicks readies for the upcoming play, with thoughts for a "Oskey" interception.

Senior Quarterback David Lindeman does some foot work to place him in a position for a pass to overcome Memorial 7-0.

Only one loss in both J.V. and Frosh seasons

It was a year of satisfaction for the Jay-Vee and Freshman football teams this year as both finished their seasons with only one loss. In his first year at Kickapoo, Coach Neil Pittman provided the leadership necessary to have a winning football team. One person who made the Junior Varsity tick was sophomore Jeff Horned. Through the season Jeff ran for over 400 yards.

A young and talented group of freshmen played their way to a (5-1) record which ties the school's best freshman record. Freshman Coach Joe Ledl said, "The boys had the best winning attitude of any team I've ever coached." Coach Ledl also said that the team worked harder to get in shape than most young athletes would.

Digging is a very important part of volleyball as shown here by Senior Genea Routh as she digs the ball to set up a good offense.

Many accomplishments seen in volleyball

Closeness and working as a team were the key factors in the success of the girls' volleyball team. The girls had kidnaps and "get-up" parties to get their spirit high. They also had a prayer before each game.

Major accomplishments for the year were a 20-5 record, first place in the conference tournament, second in the Ozark Conference, and consolation honors in the KHS Classic, but the team was let down in the semi-finals of districts by losing to Glendale. Players picked to the All-Conference team are seniors Dina Hein, Genea Routh, and Marilyn Drewry.

"We did a fantastic job for an inexperienced team and proved to many people we could do anything with a lot of love and work." senior Dina Hein commented.

Concentration and timing are two key factors in being able to learn to play the game of tennis as shown by Senior Renee Graves.

Renee has been a member of the tennis team for four years and feels it's a very good way to become involved in an active and competitive sport.

Style and Grace are easily mastered by Senior Becky Hoggard as she grits her teeth, hopes, and slams the ball across the net with all her power and determination.

Junior Tia Kirwin shows her deep concentration as she carefully prepares for her very important swing.

Practice is important to any avid golfer, especially Junior Mary Zind as she picks up a few pointers from '78 golf coach Judy Hoover.

Golf, Tennis, gain from competitive experience

A "rebuilding season" is the way Senior Cheri Foushee describes the '78 tennis season. "We were mostly underclassmen with little or no experience at playing competition tennis." "Competition tennis is when there is a great amount of pressure placed on each member. Unless they have had much experience playing it, they usually have a hard time handling the pressure and can't play as well as they might play," states Coach Brenda Goodwin. Valuable experience was gained however, and she looks forward to a winning season next year.

The '78 Golf Team was coached by Mrs. Judy Hoover. The team was made up of six enthusiastic girls who were eager to learn. They did not do as well as hoped, but, like the tennis team, they gained experience and valuable knowledge. They look forward to a winning season next year also.

The will to win, typical of the girls' B-ballers, gives tired Susan Braughton energy to keep the ball out of reach of her opponents.

KHS winning tradition holds for lady chiefs

Winning. It's been a tradition for the Lady Chiefs. Through the 1978-79 season, they carried on that tradition. Varsity ended their season with a 19-9 record. Coach Sue Schuble feels the girls did very well considering they were a young team with only two starting seniors. The team won the regional championships and from there went to state competition where they were beaten in the first round.

Junior Varsity, with the prestigious reputation of being undefeated since Kickapoo's opening, broke their winning streak with a single loss which brought their record to 15-1; yet they still defended their impressive record against many older and more experienced teams.

As Lynne Brent tips the ball, Marilyn Drewry and Lori Fuson await their opponent's static.

Susan Braughton gets encouragement from her team before going on the court.

Like Knights fighting a cause, David Duncan, John Roper, Jeff Lierz, and Sean Allison — The Fabled Four-some — dazzled in their quest that won the pool standard to stand in the name of Kickapoo.

Kim Horton's powerful pull enhances her gliding breaststroke form.

David Duncan can at last exhale the waves he inhaled during practice.

Girls and boys shine, splash way to state

Breaststroker Paul Reddick, one of the underclassmen who will take over next year, comes up for air during an important race.

Tucked into the wave from her pull, Kim Coffman appears to be placidly asleep. Far from it, however, Kim is pulling and kicking with every iota of endurance and stamina she has as she endeavors to inch away from the stroke for stroke unison she and her opponent are engaged in.

A year hallmarked by accolades and an effulgence of talent handsomely rewarded the boys' swim team. Eight travelled to state in Columbia. Sean Allison, John Roper, Jeff Lierz, and David Duncan, the enthralling 200 medley invited acclaim with the pool record and ranking third in the state.

Divers were imbued with abundant talent as Steve Richerson, Louis Champagne, and Tracy Maxfield qualified almost effortlessly.

Girl tankers also immersed in stellar year, were led by Patty Helm, Terri Ross, Lisa Bonacker, and Patty Ross en route to state. Silver medal honors in the all-city and districts wrapped the girls' year in fine fashion.

Matmen see action both locally and at state

For the first time in their history, the Chiefs captured the District Wrestling Championship and sent ten men to the Regionals in Kansas City. With only four seniors on the squad the chiefs were strong in all weight classes and Junior Tim Jones turned in a record of 25-0 to be the best of the season.

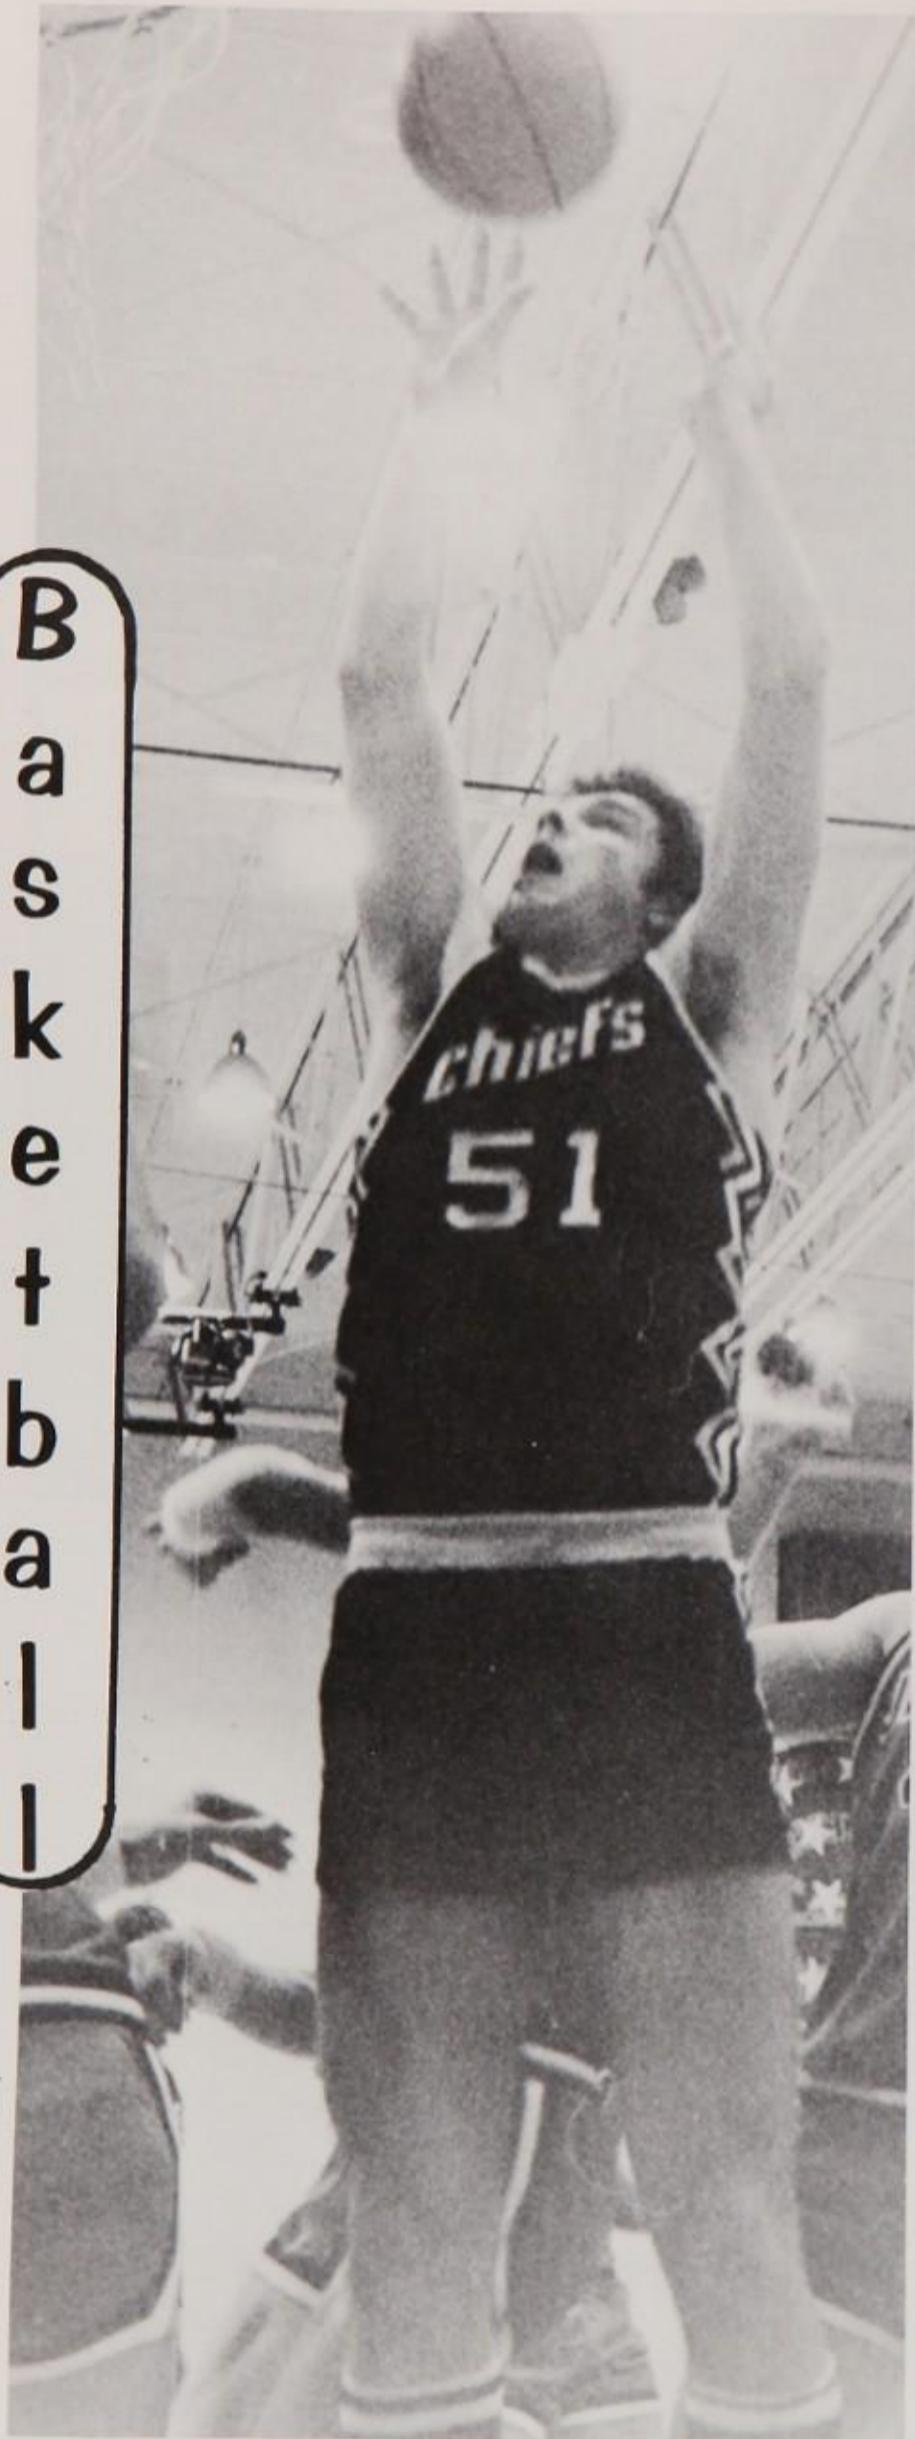

Not only did the varsity turn in a good record but both Jay-Vee ended their season at 5-1 and freshmen at 4-1.

A good coach is important and the Chiefs had the best, Coach Charles Sanders was named Coach of the Year and Tim Jones Wrestler of the Year in district 2-A.

Sophomore Greg Gaines waits on the whistle and a pin for his unwilling victim.

Starters Barry Smith, Kelly Allison, and Mike Drewry show how to make the team have a successful season by working together.

Chiefs have rewarding season with teamwork

A rewarding season was achieved by the Chief's varsity basketball team through a team effort.

There was no one outstanding player. Each individual found and contributed his own special talent.

After struggling from a slow start and a loss of players, the Chiefs still acquired a winning season.

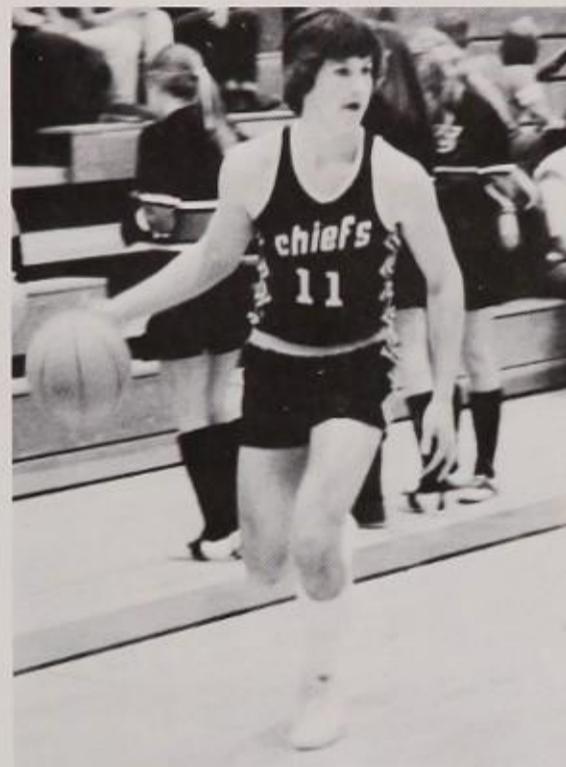

Outstanding resources from the bench was the major factor that kept the Chief machine moving!

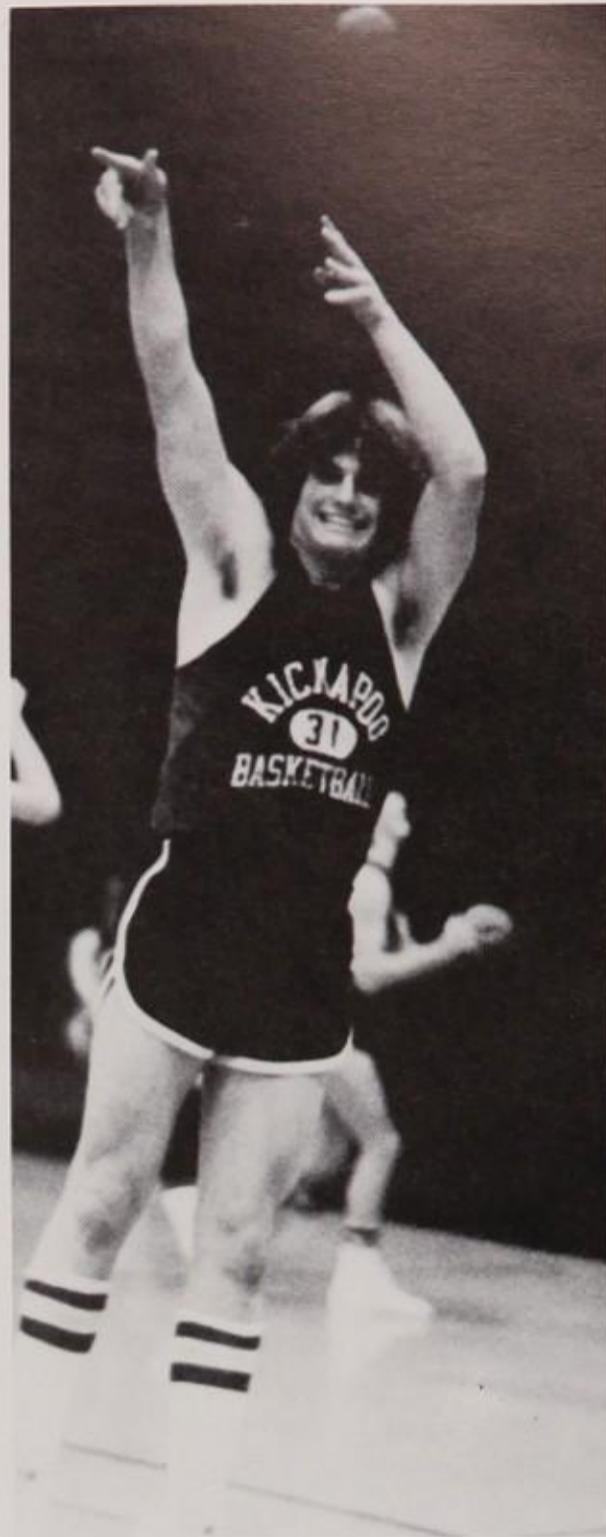

Coach John Rotenberry, with varsity players Mike Drewry and Kelly Allison, discusses the opponent's defense while Doug Middleton checks the clock for time left and the score.

Barry Smith jumps high over his opponent to add 2 points for a Chief victory.

Doug Middleton dribbles down against a Branson Zone defense looking for the open shot.

Warriors, Braves end seasons victoriously

Finishing with a second place in conference and a third in Springfield freshman division, the Braves "A" team wound up the season with a 7-7 record, while the "B" team compiled a perfect record of 12-0.

Freshman Coach Jim Hagen said, "They accepted their roles and contributed what they had to for the team."

Commenting on the Junior Varsity team, J.V. Basketball coach, Don Carlson said, "Everyone of the these players are super athletes with good attitudes."

Hal McClelland, Scott Loveland, and Jeff Gigax were among the top scorers, while Clay French contributed with a majority of the rebounds.

Freshman basketballer, Joe Peters, drives through the lane, past the Central defenders in an attempt to score two points for the Braves.

February 23 began with exciting basketball games against our crosstown rival, Parkview. Losing the J.V. game by one point was followed by the Sweetheart ceremony. Dina Hein was crowned 1979's Sweetheart Queen. The varsity game was neck and neck; with seconds remaining Brent Scott shot the one point victory.

Spirits were high as everyone headed to the dance held in the cafeteria. "When I Need You," the theme for the decorations, was carried out in rainbows, flowers, and streamers of pastels. "Jivin' Ivin" played a variety of disco and rock, while the Sweethearts enjoyed their last Sweetheart Social.

After completing a perfect swing, 1978 Freshman golfer Jeff Palmer looks on hopefully to see if his ball will land near the green.

Golf, Tennis Finish With Best Seasons

"It was a great year, probably one of the best we have ever had," stated '78 sophomore golfer Steve Palen. The '78 Chiefs golf team, coached by Mr. Jim Pearson, did an excellent job of representing the Brown and Gold of Kickapoo. "They were a good group of golfers and worked well together," commented Pearson. Winning the SMSU relays, placing second in conference, and qualifying for state tournament were just a few of the winnings that made this season so great.

While increasing in popularity the last few years, the '78 boys' tennis team also had one of their best over all seasons. With a new coach, Mr. Jim Springston, the tennis Chiefs tied for second at the SMSU relays and placed fourth in the district tournament.

Senior baseball player, Mark Frost, takes a trial swing during one of the many batting practices held after school during baseball season. Mark, who has been on the baseball team since his freshman year, contributed much moral support to his fellow teammates.

Unfortunately for these players only nine people are allowed on the baseball field at one time. With only one varsity team, unlike the other sports, playing time is somewhat limited for several players, making it a long ball game to sit through on the bench.

Baseball Chiefs have excellent individuals

Coached by Mr. Jack Steiger and assisted by Mr. John Rotenberry the 1978 baseball Chiefs finished the season with an 8-8 record.

Pitchers Larry Barnes, Jay Kinser, Andy Padron, and Curt Scrivener contributed much to the team with their ability.

Jeff Maynard, four year starting second baseman, was all conference and the first to achieve all-state in baseball from KHS. Senior Dan Beck, received an honorable mention for all-conference.

Assistant baseball Coach John Rotenberry and Head Coach Jack Steiger are having a discussion before one of the Chiefs' ball games.

Cross Country Wins; Trackers Qualify

This being Kickapoo's first year in Cross Country competition, coached by Richard Clark, the team placed fourth in the SMSU Relays. Kevin McLauchlin was a medalist in all meets and finished seventh in District.

Also outstanding was the boys' track team with 11 qualifying for the state meet. The two-mile relay team of Dave Rush, Mike Drewry, Rob Bailey, and Gower Anderson finished second in the state with a time of 7:59.5, the best time ever run by a Southwest Missouri team. Ten school records were broken or tied.

The girls' track team, coached by Mrs. Brenda Goodwin, finished first in seven of eleven meets, including the All-City, Conference, and District meets. They sent eight girls to state.

WE ARE KICKAPOO

IN

INDIAN KNOWLEDGE

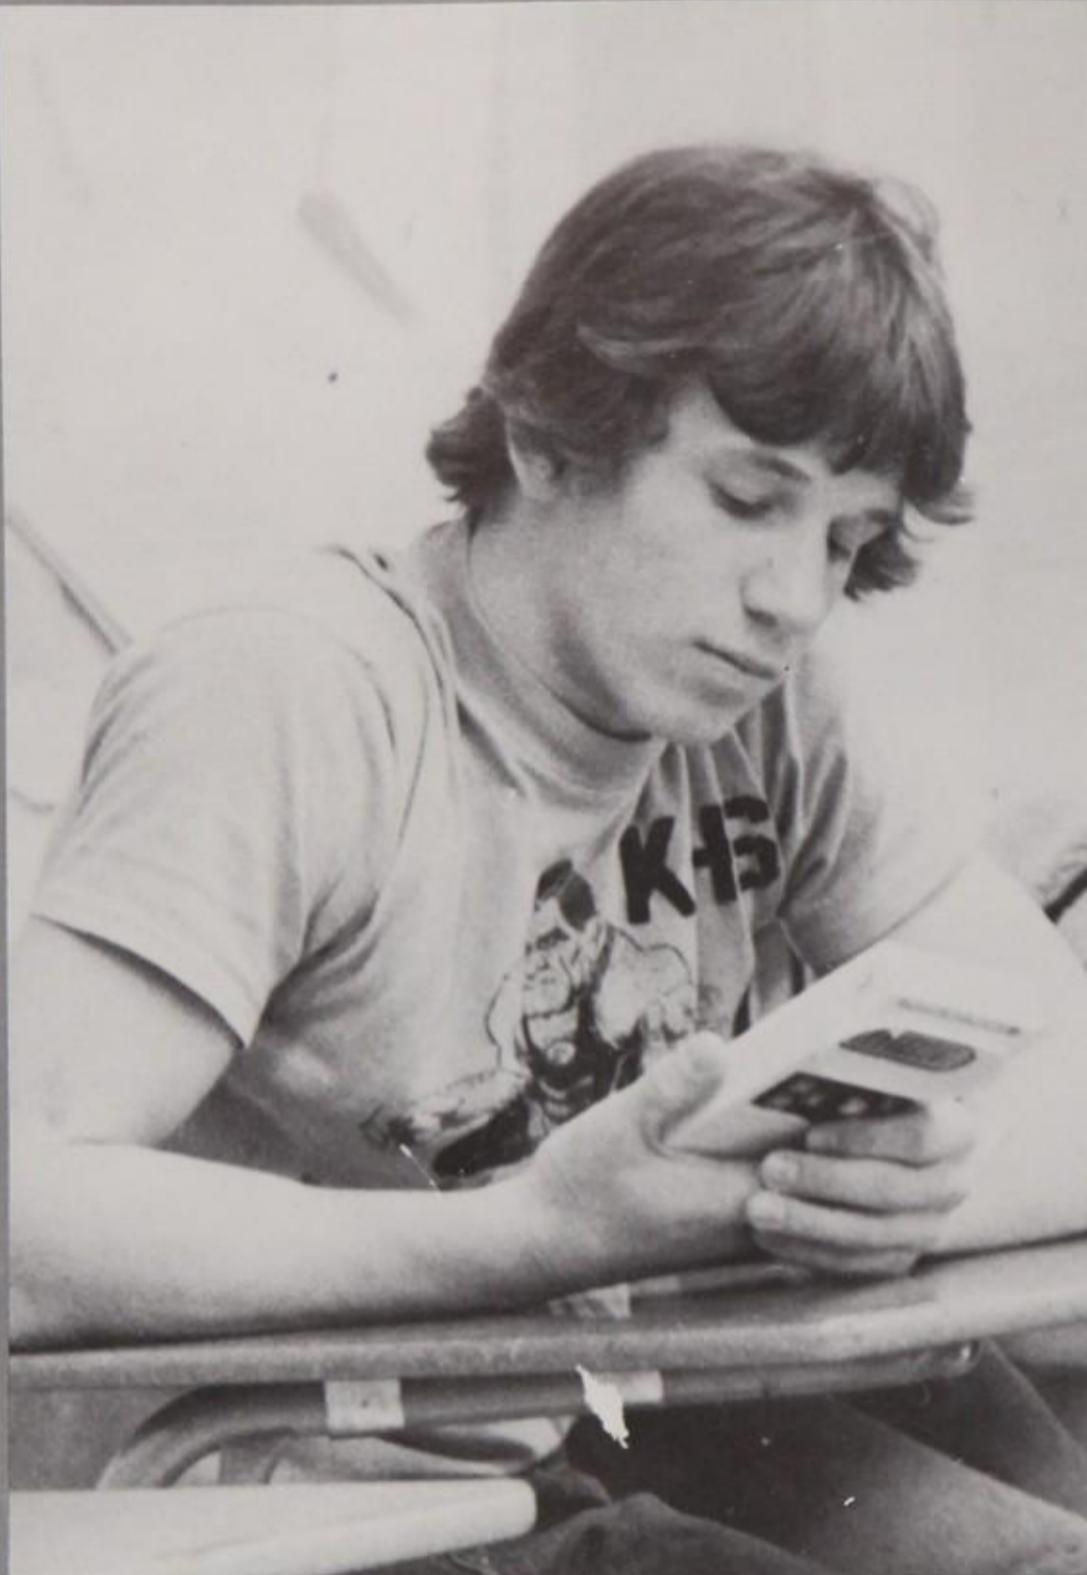

Although everybody enjoys extra-curricular activities we all know that the main purpose of school is to learn.

Going to six classes a day was routine for most students. Some managed to fix their schedule to leave early on a work permit or through COE. For the rest it was six classes a day, everyday, five days a week.

With 161 different courses to choose from, students could have a variety of classes.

We Are Inquisitive . . .

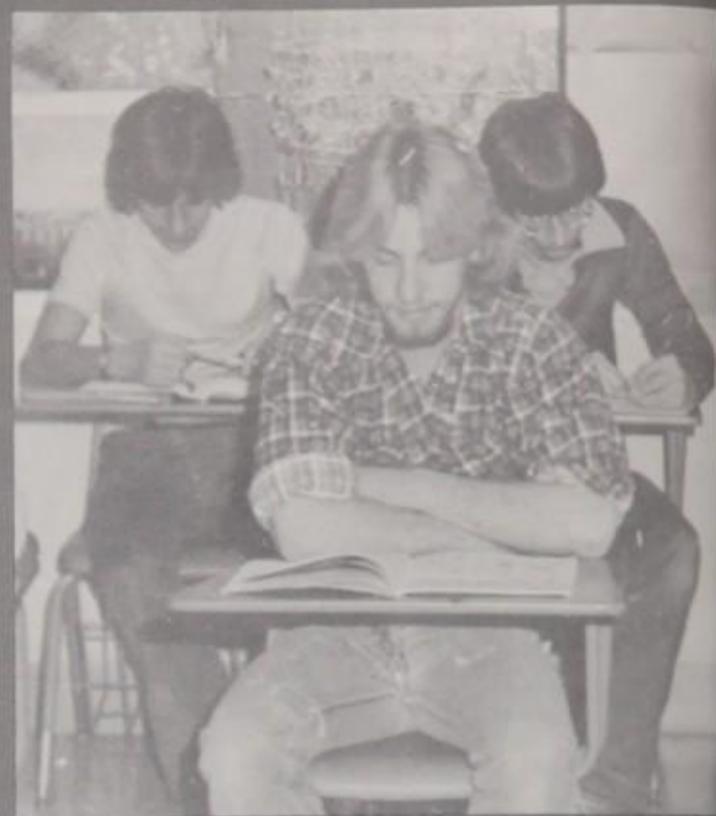

Tim Jones checks his computer football game batteries. A field goal will give Tim's team a triumph, but Tim wants to be sure his team has the batteries needed to win.

A high grade percentage was required for English II-B, new to the English Department. The class was on a higher level than regular Sophomore English.

Camelot Club consisted of anyone interested in the liberal arts, whose main project was the Sage-a publication of poems and stories written by Kickapoo students.

Also originally from English was Sword and Sorcery, sponsored by Mrs. Jo Gillihan. Club activities included mental games which were involved and complicated.

Born from the history department was the History Bowl, trips to circuit court, and the Youth in Government program which gave students a chance to experience mock legislature sessions.

The torrent of thoughts from Jeff Dial's imagination color Miss Liggett's classroom just like a poster Panorama.

Joy Holloway and Janet Smith "duke" it out, expressing hate in "Body Talk" a game of emotions in English I.

Along with her classmates, Laura Thomison does her Business Law with deep concentration. Business Law is a great course for those who are interested in law as a career, and open for those students who are interested in their consumer and personal rights under the law.

With some victory and defeat, Math students competed in the annual math relays at SMSU. In March, at Kickapoo, algebra students had the opportunity to take algebra tests, and beat their opponents from area high schools. Math Club, sponsored by Mr. Hoyle Massey and Mr. Stanley Jones, did well in competition at the School of the Ozarks as they came back with a trophy.

In the world of business, students found that the knowledge they had gained could be used for their personal use. Salesmanship taught them how to sell a product, an idea, or how to relate to others more effectively. Shorthand was useful for taking notes in classes, while business typing was great for doing reports. Business and consumer problems and bookkeeping taught students how to keep records.

We Are Explorative . . .

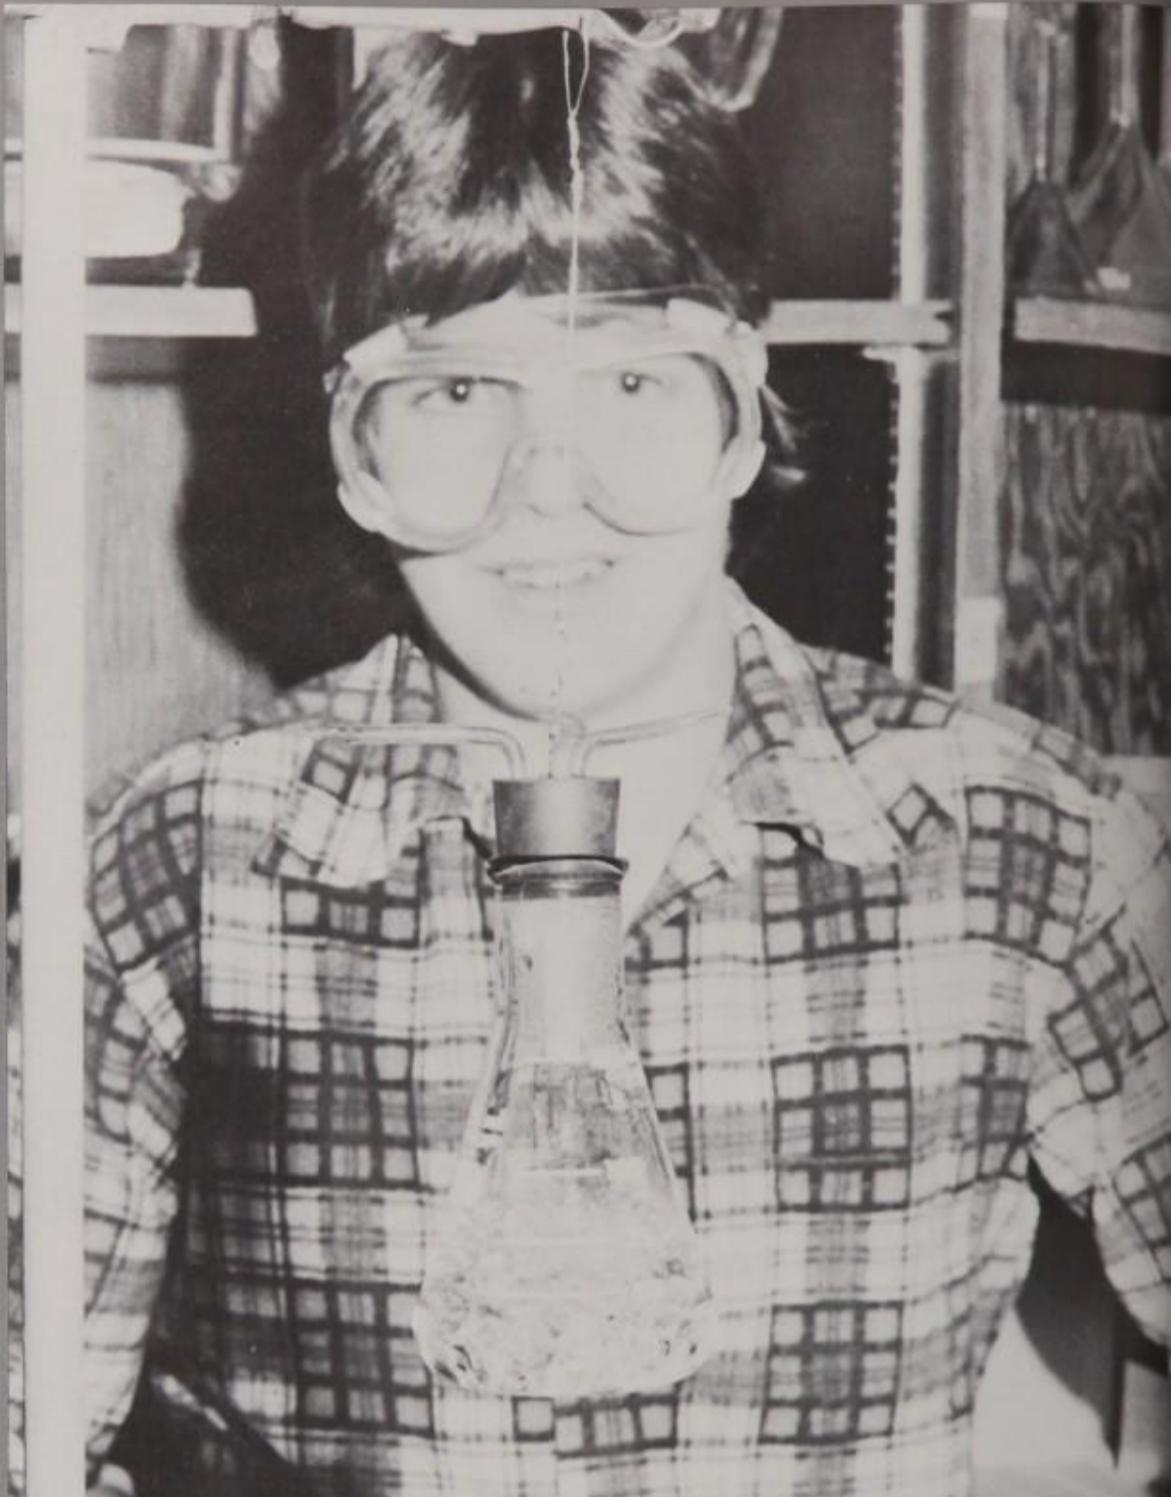

Exploring and experimenting are part of both the science and home economics departments.

Future Homemakers of America began their activities with the annual FHA mixer. Donna Parker, FHA president and regional leader, stated, "FHA has doubled in membership, and we attracted more freshmen. It has really been a great year." Studying world food problems drew much concern in the home ec classes, and they raised $60 to sponsor a needy child from Haiti.

Science students, among other things, concentrated on man and his origins, physics, and plant life. Science club viewed slide shows periodically, and telescopes were carried out on the football field for a night star-watch directed by Dr. John Northrip, an SMSU physics professor.

Marsha Flesch works diligently to trim the lapel seams of her home economics project.

In keeping with the Spanish tradition of making piñatas at Christmas time, Miss Liggett's Spanish I students Jennifer Robeson and Janet Smith take time out during class to bang their piñata featuring the 'Star Wars' theme while the rest of the class looks on.

Combining American traditions with true foreign customs were challenges taken on by the foreign language clubs this year.

Pinata parties, Mexican dinners and buying t-shirts were all part of the activities Spanish club took part in.

Spanish classes combined fun with learning when they made the Mexican pastry called sopaipillas.

French and Latin clubs joined forces to have a bowling-pizza party and a Halloween party. They also combined for their annual spring picnic.

A serious field trip was taken by German club to the SMSU foreign language department, but they also participated in the fun by having a Christmas party and preparing several German dishes to get a taste of the real Germany.

Sophomores Doug Wilson and Byron Pearson show serious interest behind their welding goggles as shop teacher, Mr. Robert Green, gives a welding demonstration in shop class.

The artistic duet of seniors Kurt Atwell and Sherry Rozell team up for another ceramic masterpiece from a mere lump of clay. Sherry concentrates on the general size and shape of the "original", while Kurt gets as close as he can to add those fine details and textures.

In Art and Industrial Arts

With the use of assorted brushes and paints, advanced art student, Dee Springer, creates her version of the still life setting.

"Hey, I'm better than I thought," expresses senior Mike Drewry as he smiles at his sketch for Art II. Art class gives Mike a smile of all-day confidence.

Concentration is the key to a successful design for senior David Hickman as he diligently works on perfecting his architectural project for drafting.

With great skill and expertise, doubtful Junior, Eric Howard and confident senior, John Waddle, do their best to finish their clay sculpture in their first hour Art II class.

This was a year of success and change for the Art Department. Art students from Kickapoo took four out of five places at the Human Rights Day Poster contest. Total winnings of $29 were collected by Dee Springer, taking first; Mary Bradley, second; Tom Reynolds, third; and David Hampton, fourth.

Field trips, displays, and helping the newspaper with logos and art work were a few of the things the department participated in.

Expansion took place in the department with the addition of an Art III class, and they now have three potters' wheels.

The Industrial Arts program kept busy by making projects ranging from candle holders to cedar chests.

We Are Training . . .

In his data processing class, junior Roger Piper keeps his eye on the computer print-out to make sure everything is in working order and running smoothly.

John Adams sands down a car in his auto mechanics class in preparation for the layers of paint to be applied.

Vo-Tech student David Scheiderer, a junior, displays a look of intense concentration on his work in his technical drafting class as he uses a compass to help him make sure all the lines are straight on one of the many layout designs required in the drafting class.

In Vocational Skills

Junior electronic student John Roper uses a scope to check the AC circuitry for trouble. The scope is mainly used for trouble shooting and not to slow the rate of the heartbeat.

Running a starter system check on his car is auto mechanics student, Mike Bennett.

Kevin Nichols works on a water bed, one of the projects tackled by woodwork students.

Commercial art students Greg Sherertz and Eddie Brandt combine their talents to work on a paper mache' art project which took them nearly two weeks to complete.

From learning how to prepare a dinner for several hundred people to making a waterbed, the Vocational-Technical center helped several Kickapoo students by giving them experience in these areas.

The Vo-Tech center, under the direction of Mr. David Berryman, is designed to help students who are not necessarily planning to attend college. It gives students valuable training in specialized areas that might open the door to the future by preparing them for jobs they wouldn't have been ready for if they had to stay in the classroom all six hours. Margaret Ellis claims its one of the best things that ever happened.

Speech and dramatic departments won many high awards as well as providing entertainment for the student body and surrounding community.

Taking first place sweepstakes at Rockhurst High in Kansas City Kansas was just the first of many wins for the KHS speech and debate squad. As an introductory speech student Carla Senter was the first in KHS history to obtain all 500 National Forensic League points, and receive a Double Ruby (the highest NFL honor).

The drama department and Thespian Society presented a season of plays beginning with "The Homecoming," and followed by "Pinnocchio," a children's production. Displaying their talents, the drama I classes presented an evening of one act plays. "Glory Hallelujah," was presented May 10, 11, 12.

"There is always excitement going around the Choir room," says Mrs. Carol Burgess, Choir director, "starting with Swing Choir tryouts, 'The King and I,' which the Choir sponsored; to assemblies and concerts."

A highlight for the Swing Choir was going to Tan-Tar-A, in November, to sing for a convention and to spend the day. That led to more invitations from people who heard them and were impressed by the enthusiasm and spark the kids had, brought about by great choreography and sound.

After the busy fall season, the students began learning music for the annual spring music festival in hopes of taking the state honor.

"Boarding the bus for Tan-Tar-A, was the beginning of an exciting day ahead for the Swing Choir," said Jill McAdoo. For those who had never been there, a great deal was to be seen, and those who had, took advantage of the activities that were offered.

Getting psyched up for an important performance in the How Day assembly is all part of being a member of the Golden Girl Pom Pon Squad.

It seems that deep concentration and thought are what it takes to be a KHS Flag Girl as shown here by Flag Captain Julie Paschall.

A look of real enjoyment and enthusiasm fill the faces of these marching band members as they march in the Veterans' Day Parade.

MARCHING BAND — Front Row: Steve Palen, Lori Fuson. In Marching Band

Led by drum majors Lori Fuson and Steve Palen, the Golden Arrow Marching Band stepped off with their most outstanding marching season ever. Hours of practices and rehearsals launched the marching season in August and many trophies and awards ended it in late November.

The band, under direction of Mr. Ernest Pratt, received a I-rating at the Aurora Marching Festival and a II-rating at the Southwest Missouri State University Contest. Finalizing this season of excellence, the band took first place in the Springfield Christmas parade. Other features were marching in the Springfield, Veterans' Day Parade and at the SMSU-Evangel football game.

Adding a flair to the look of the band were the Golden-Girls; Pom Pon Squad; Glenda Thomas, Captain; the Golden-Eight Flag Team; Julie Paschal, Captain; and the Twirlers, Kellie Burman and Karen Cameron. The Pom Pon Girls and Flag Carriers attended camp during the summer, where the Golden Girls received two awards — spirit and sweepstakes. Also, new uniforms for the percussion section and drum majors gave the band a distinctive look.

We Are Musical . . .

The oboe is one of the most difficult instruments to learn to play, but not for Senior Lea Ann Bennett and Junior Judy Dohm as they skillfully master the complicated runs. To be a good oboist requires lots of hard work, patience, and above all, practice!

BAND — Front Row: Tina Ehrenfeld, Pam Bowe, Donna Eubanks, Tammy Ray, Melinda Peters, Lea Ann Bennett. Highlighting the KHS Concert Band season was their five day trip to Nashville, Tennessee, where they performed at the University of Tennessee and also the well known "Opryland." The $15,000 needed to finance the trip was an almost impossible amount to raise, but when 120 enthusiastic members set their heart to it almost anything is possible. A performance for the student body and winter and spring concerts were also projects of the Concert Band.

Pep Band and Jazz Band were further extensions for students interested in music. Many basketball games were enlivened by the enthusiastic efforts of the pep band. Southwest Missouri State University and Drury College hosted annual Jazz Band festivals in which the KHS Jazz group participated. "Jazz Band is a fun way to get away from the often heard pop and classical music, and also become involved with a fun group of people," stated Senior member Ronda Fischer.

A major project for the Orchestra was being involved with the Fall Musical, "The King and I." This was a lot of hard work, but proved well worth the effort by the success of the performances. Also planned were various concerts throughout the year.

We Are Skillful . . .

Not being able to believe all of the homework that has to be done Senior Brett Miller tries to finish studying at school.

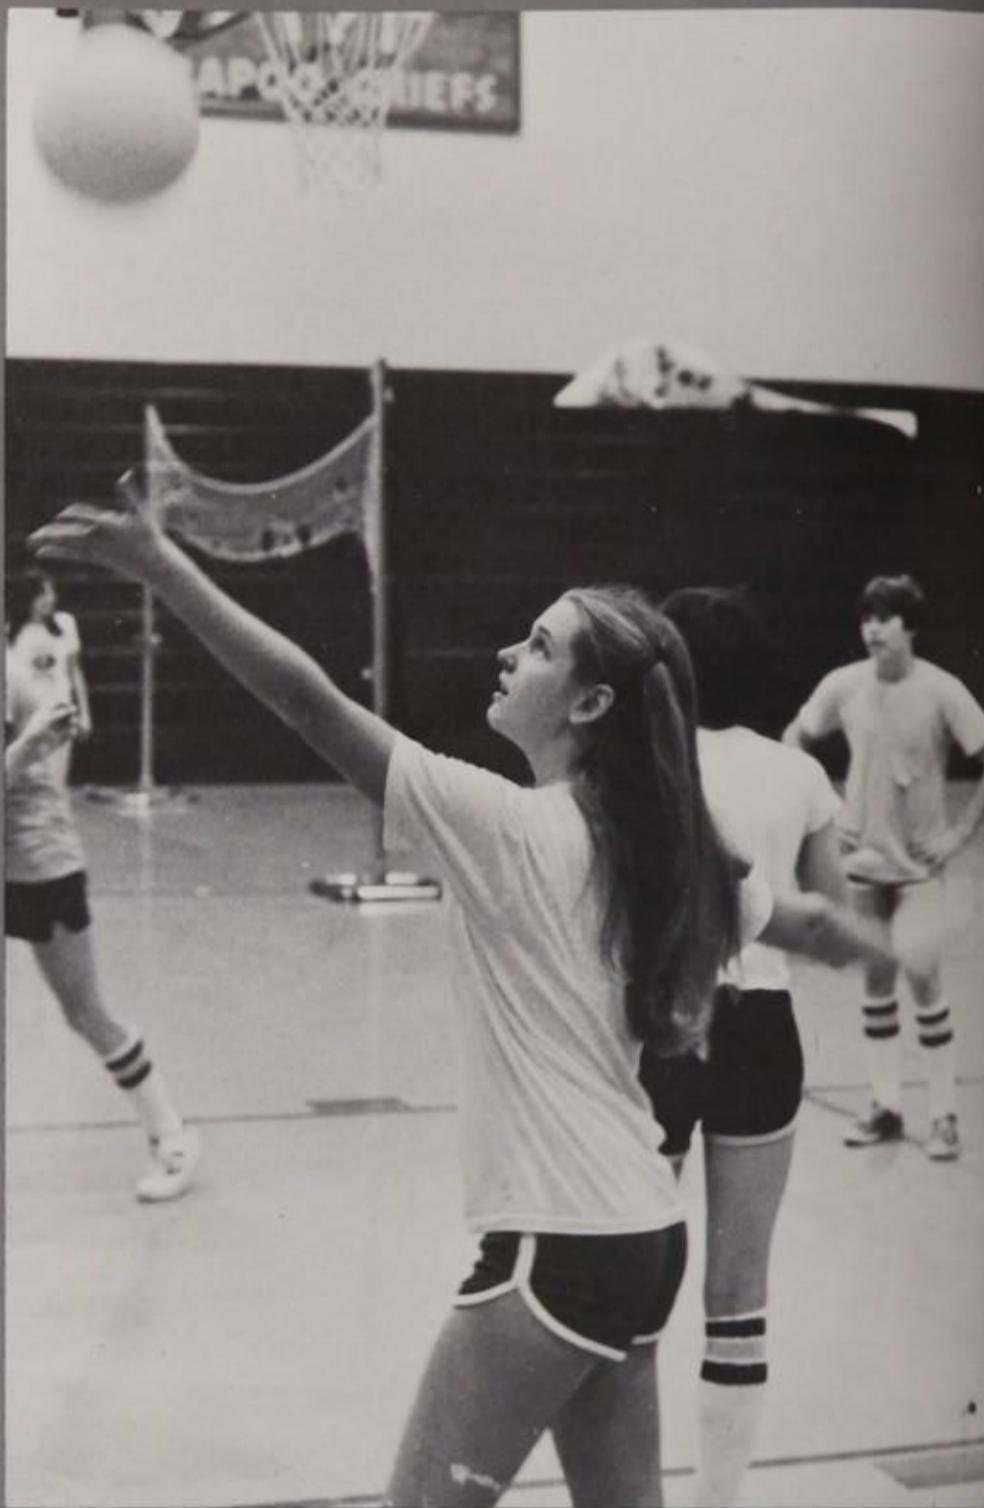

"Shoot for two!" is what Senior Teri Krueger seems to be saying as teammate Michelle Stauffer goes for a basket in PE IV.

During Driver Education, students were given studies on the Missouri Drivers' Guide, first-aid, defensive driving, and alcohol units. They had opportunities to work with the simulators and use their achieved skills on the city streets.

There was a major change in physical education, because for the first time they became co-ed. New things were tried such as fencing and disco dancing with people from SMSU demonstrating.

Physical Education courses have helped students qualify in the Special Olympics.

Academically, students are assisted to reach their potential for jobs or college.

Sophomore Karla Dowell carefully watches the ball as she gets ready to serve it over the net to try and help bring her team to another victory.

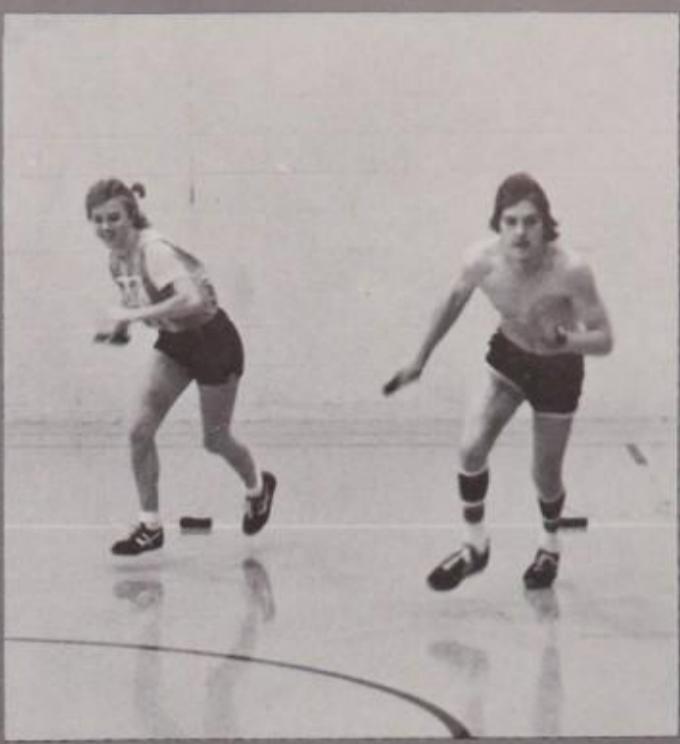

Practicing safe driving habits in the simulators is very important as shown here by Sophomore Stacey Box as she checks over her shoulder to make sure everything is clear.

In Gym, OH, and Drivers' Ed

Mr. Dennis Flattre and his aids demonstrate the techniques of karate to senior Donna Triplitt. Special classes prepare OH students to compete athletically.

Speed is what seniors Kim Horten and Tom Haloupek need as they race against each other for the best time in the shuttle run.

With Coach Jim Hagan Driver Education students Paul Schuler, Jay Warner, and Jacque Rogers look at their scores from the simulators.

When driving the simulators, students watch a film that causes them to act in an emergency as if they were in an actual car.

We Are Creative . . .

Creativity, perseverance, and courage are the backbone of a good journalist.

"Kickapoo Prairie News" staff had a continuous train of good ideas as they produced 20 editions of the newspaper, sticking to a budget of $8,000. They managed to come out with an All-Missouri paper according to Missouri Scholastic Press Association in Columbia.

Perseverance was a mainstay while working on a 152 page Legend and meeting all the deadlines. The theme took creativity and courage to make it appeal to the student body.

The creativity of a photographer was greatly appreciated. Approximately 700 pictures were taken, developed, and printed for completion of the yearbook, not mentioning special assignments for the newspaper.

J-I was really a creative, hard working group. They produced their own TV shows along with commercials and acknowledgements. Mrs. Hansen sees a lot of promise for next year.

J-II students Greg Middleton and Brent Barber found their food and are ready to eat as Dawn Palmer reaches to the bottom of the bag and, as usual, comes up empty handed.

Journalism is serious work! A few of the J-II students are at an all-city journalism seminar listening to Dr. Robert Knight from the School of Journalism at University of Missouri in Columbia. These are not looks of boredom on their faces but deep concentration and pure interest!

In Journalism

Pete Daniel loves to have his picture taken! He poses for this picture with a somber, far-away look.

Kevin Mackey shows Christmas spirit by portraying Santa Claus over the holidays working at Venture.

Working three hours a day and attending school is regular routine for Cooperative Education (COE) students.

COE is a class organized to develop leadership abilities in students. It is divided into two groups. Distributive Education Clubs of America (DECA) which deals in sales and management of marketed goods, and Vocational Industrial Clubs of America (VICA) focuses on different areas of business.

Mr. Donald Compte joined the COE department this year.

A good school does not only teach facts; it also provides opportunities for its students to grow emotionally by becoming involved in outside activities. KHS has a variety of extracurricular activities from which to choose.

The chess club placed second in the R-12 chess league; freshman John Witt reigned as top player. Member Mike Parker said "We have a good club, but we need some improvement in strategy."

During the morning, Mrs. Ellen Henry and Dawn Palmer discuss some information concerning Anchor Club.

At the beginning of the year, Anchor Club, sponsored by Mrs. Ellen Henry, had a pizza party as a mixer for the members. During the Christmas season, both Key and Anchor Clubs delivered baskets for the needy; Anchor Club hosted the Muscular Dystrophy Christmas party and participated in the M.D. volleyball marathon.

Key Club, sponsored by Mr. Charles Calame, collected money for the Mentally Retarded Foundation. They also did volunteer work at the KOZK tele-auction and participated in the chili supper with the Sunshine Kiwanis Club.

New and lively, the Flying Disc Club, sponsored by Mrs. Cynthia Miller, was formed by some enthusiastic students!

in the Office

Mental preparations, have pencil ready, and get to work, seems to be an everyday occurrence for Shona Francis, Karen Falls and Kim Crossland as they show how it's done. Of course the fourth worker has had mysterious business and will return soon with cashew chicken?

SECRETARIES — Mrs. Donna Freeman, Mrs. Nancy Dunham, Mrs. Ada Copeland, Mrs. Pauline Klapp, Mrs. Wanda Sharum.

Finding something to do is usually no problem for an office worker. Whether they are an attendance, counselor, or main office worker, keeping busy is something they know well. Running passes, marking attendance slips, and going after teachers are all a part of an office worker's daily duties. There is always a waiting list for office help and Mrs. Pauline Klapp admitted, "We just couldn't function without them."

Office workers donate their study hall time yet sometimes still find spare time to catch up on homework and visit with friends.

We Are Helpful . . .

Custodians Mr. Jack Glidewell and Mr. Floyd Nimmo kept "an eye" on students all year long trying to prevent food fights and people from leaving their trays.

Mrs. Eva Geren, the school nurse, looks concerned after taking a student's temperature.

Mr. Jack Glidewell and Mr. Melvin Engleking make sure the kids eat their food.

Although hard working, the service personnel at Kickapoo got very little credit other than their paycheck. If we only realized what it takes to prepare meals for 1,400 students and then clean up the mess, we might give them a raise.

Other tasks of the service personnel include ticketing cars parked illegally, which is done by Mr. Tom Lindsay, Kickapoo's security officer. We might have been able to get by without the parking tickets, but the absence of his other services would surely be missed. And the unsung hero, Mrs. Geren, the school nurse, added to the success of the year by helping students feel a bit more comfortable.

Mrs. Lula McCroskey and Mrs. JoElla McCallaster get ready for the assembly line procedure that they follow in order to be able to give 1,400 students their daily rations.

In Service Personnel

With two fine representatives, Brad Southwick for the students and Mr. Wilkerson for the teachers, the PTSA had another good year working along with students.

Working hard to keep up with the seemingly continuous line of hungry students are these three cafeteria workers.

Security officer, Tom Lindsay, takes time between cruising the parking lot and giving students a hard time to carry on a conversation with Senior,

Kevin McLaughlin. Being a security officer isn't an easy job, but Mr. Lindsay always makes the best of it.

We Are in Charge . . .

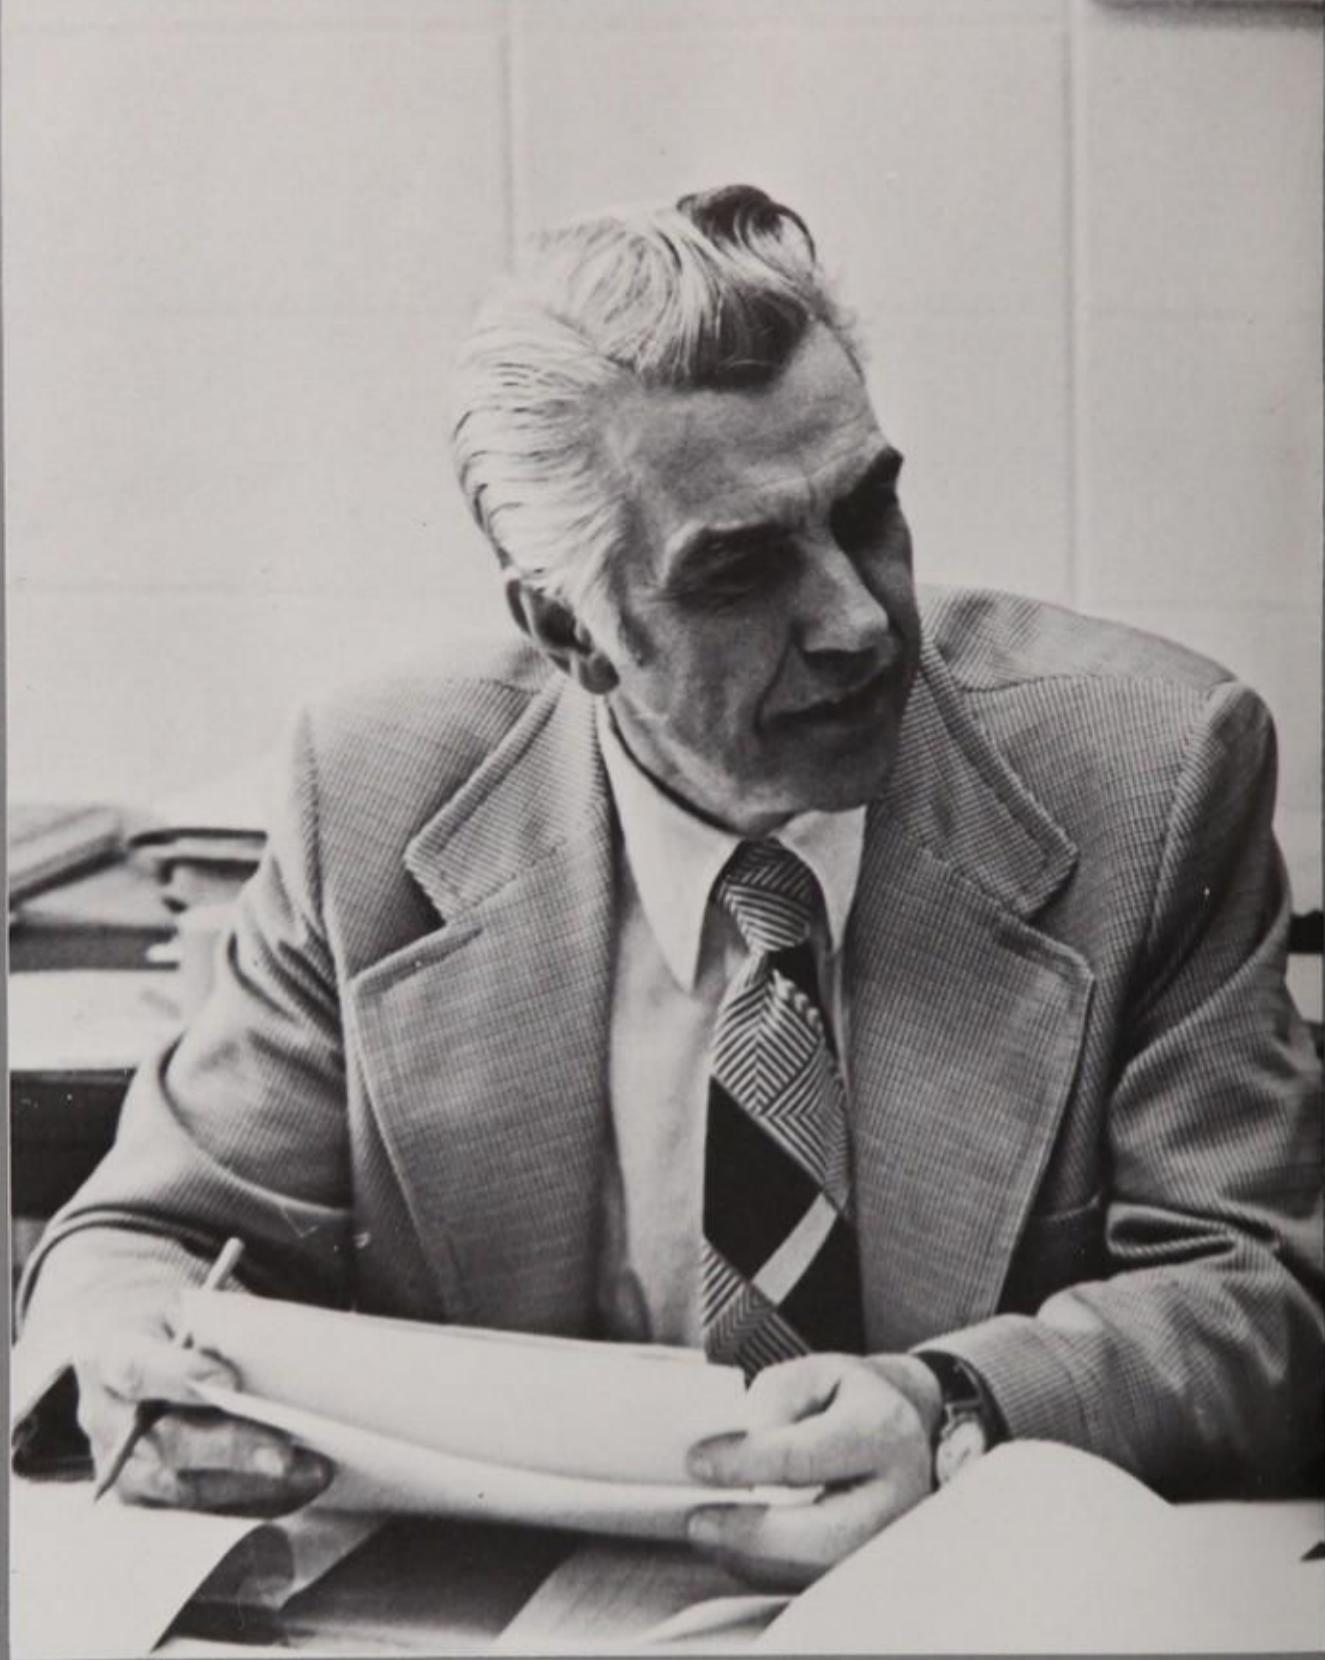

Mr. Curtis Wilkerson
Principal

Mr. Harold Deiker
Assistant-Principal

Getting the school year off to a good start was the primary concern of Mr. Curtis Wilkerson, principal, and Mr. Harold Deiker, assistant-principal. "This year we are trying to stress that every student be a number one kind of person," commented Wilkerson.

The Board of Education and the Administrative Board worked hard on many things concerning Kickapoo. Another access road to the school is expected sometime next year, and the new addition of classrooms should be started sometime in the fall of 1980.

Being principal is not always what it is cut out to be. Sometimes principals need a break, too, as Mr. Wilkerson tries to decide whether or not to go up to Journalism and snitch a donut.

Keeping charge of the school equipment, including the video monitor machine, Mr. Deiker explains how it works to an interested senior, Donna Sanders.

Our Faculty Makes Our School Complete

A school year cannot be fully successful without the help of the faculty, both at Kickapoo and Vo-tech. Every teacher has class four or five hours a day and each has one conference or work period. Teachers also participate in many school activities. Some sponsor clubs and organizations, while others help out at sporting events. A Parent-Teacher Conference day was held in October which gave parents a chance to get acquainted with the teachers, the school, and discuss how their children were doing.

Seven New Teachers Added to Faculty

Kickapoo's already fine teaching staff was improved this year with the addition of seven excellent new teachers. All had a positive attitude toward KHS and looked forward to the challenges of teaching here.

They were Mr. Tony Loudis, English and Mrs. Sandra Buyan, history; Mr. Hoyle Massey, mathematics; Mr. John Kromas, German, Mr. Roy Duncan, science, Mr. Donald Compte, cooperative education, and Mr. Neil Pittman, JV football coach, and history.

We Are Kickapoo . . .

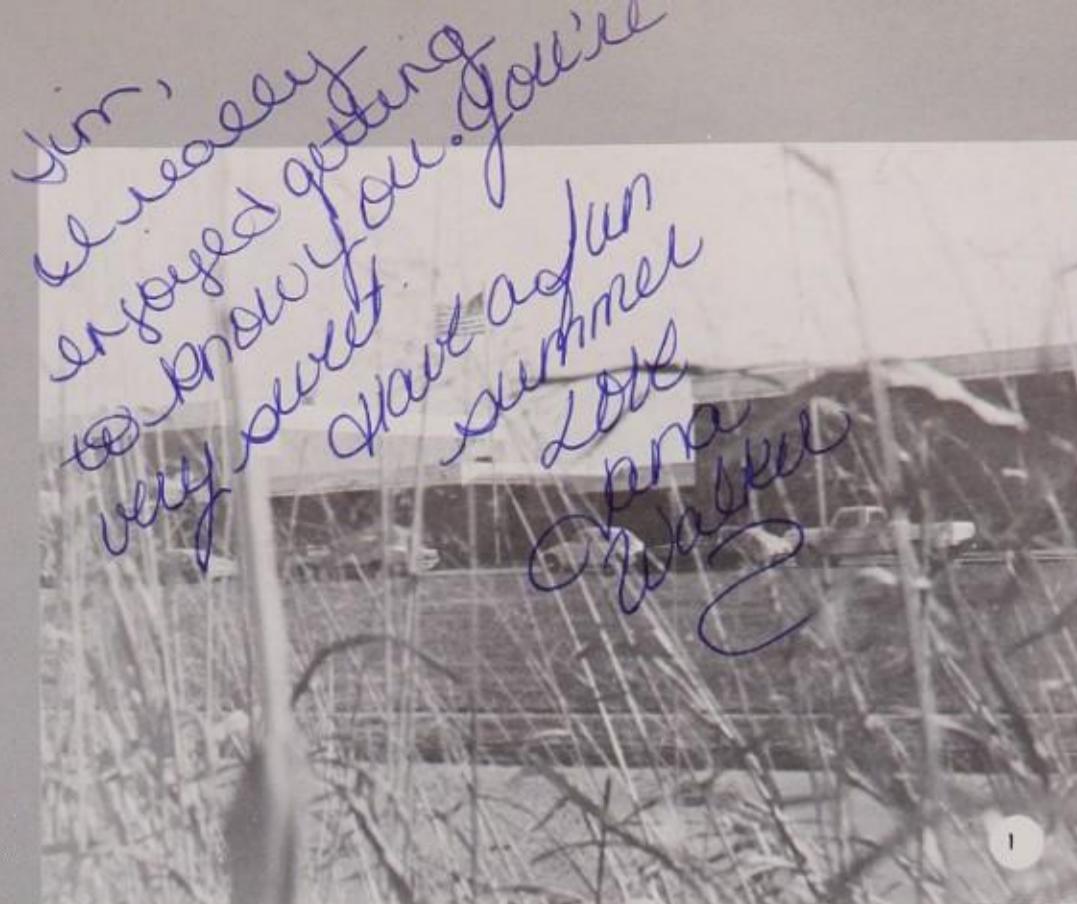

Just like the Indians, we have pride and a sense of tradition.

Our pride shines through when we pack the stands for Chief Ceremonial or bring down the house when we beat rivals like Glendale and Parkview.

Friendship and loyalty flow through the school when we buy Ghost-a-grams, Santa-grams, or carnations for best friends or lovers.

Traditions that are carried from year to year include Chief Ceremonial, How Night, Sweetheart Social and pranks pulled against Glendale when their players are announced at basketball games.

1. Commencement memories for the Class of '79 which is the largest graduating class yet in Kickapoo's history.
2. Even though the day has just begun senior Mary Kollmeyer realizes it is going to be a long rough one.
3. Through the tunnel we catch a view of beginning construction on Kickapoo's pedestrian overpass which will provide the safety of students.
4. Senior class president, William Tate, reflects pensively on the four years he has spent at Kickapoo High School.
5. Enthusiasm ran high at school basketball games as the Chiefs beat rivals such as the Glendale Falcons and the Parkview Vikings.
6. In early morning hours, before classes a glimpse of Kickapoo is seen through cornstalks in front of the school.
7. School doesn't seem so bad after a vacation from snow days but, the bus heading home is still a good feeling.
8. "Go to . . . world I'm a senior," says Patty Fleetwood. She's doing her imitation of a chipmunk with big ears.

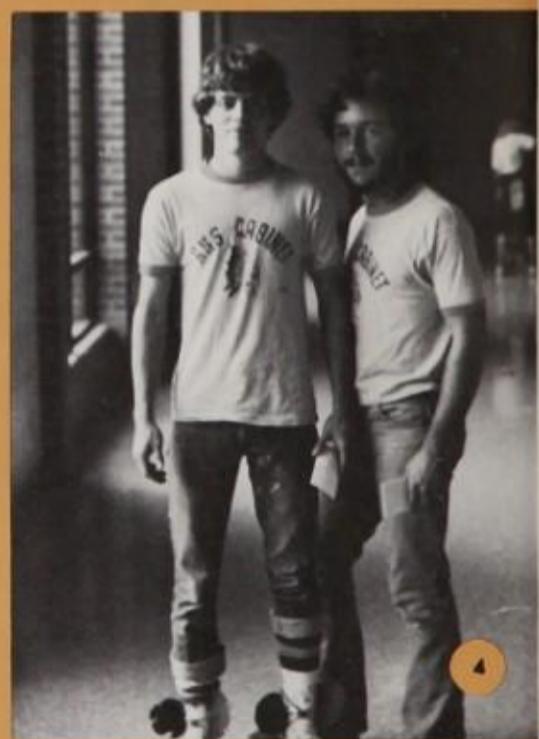

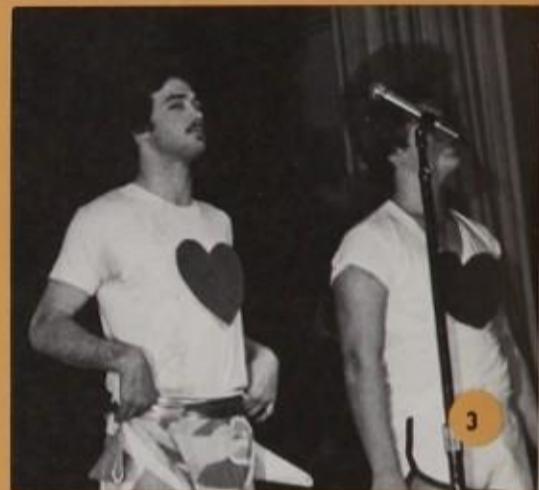

Until . . .

The End!

1. The Kickapoo Chief is sad to say good-bye but is satisfied in knowing most of us will be back next year.
2. The spirit of the old Kickapoo Chief watches the last bus of the '78-'79 year leave for the summer.
3. Cupids Kurt Atwell and Kyle Roblin are disputing about who will be the reigning cupid of the Sweetheart Social.
4. Pete Daniel shows spirit by wearing mouse socks on sock day. Brad Southwick says he'll be his friend anyway.
5. Chris Burnett, Pat Fleming, Danny Perry and Brad McCarter sing, "I like it Being Me", with good facial expression.

We always win our very first home football game and in the past few years we have started the tradition of a prayer circle after every football game.

Evidence of these traits is not hard to find. We started learning pride and tradition when we visited How Night or our first football game.

By the time we're seniors we have a mind full of memories and a heart full of friends. Traditions are hard to leave behind, but the pride and experiences we learned at Kickapoo will benefit us greatly.

Jim,
It's been nice knowing you in Alaska.
I hope you calculator goes far. I know you go far, because I'm thinking you're very positive.
